GOP In Bitter Split Over Civil Rights

Reds Charged With Reckless Act Of Piracy

Lodge Claims Proof Plane Tricked Off Course

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States asserted today it has scientific proof that Soviet fighter planes deliberately maneuvered a U.S. RB47 off its course and shot it down over international waters.

U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denounced the action as "a criminal and reckless act of piracy" which the Soviet Union tried to hide with "reckless talk."

But he did not seek council condemnation of the Soviet Union.

Instead he submitted a resolution calling on the council to either name an impartial fact-finding mission to investigate the incident, or submit the entire matter to the International Court of Justice.

TAKING NOTES

In a highly dramatic speech he produced two maps to demonstate his points.

Lodge said of the Soviet act of shooting down the plane July 1: "This astonishing and criminal fact is established beyond doubt by the evidence of our scientific devices." He did not go into details and U.S. sources said the exact nature was withheld because it involved secret information of great interest to the Soviets.

He accused the Soviet Union of denying the RB47 crewmen their rights under international law and denounced this as "flagrant dis-

State Republicans Bury Hatchet In Bitter Wrangle

CHICAGO (AP) — Louisiana's delegates to the Republican National Convention have decided they came here to fight the Democrats, not each other.

They buried the hatchet last night following a bitter caucus at which they agreed after an hour of wrangling, that George Reese of New Orleans had been legitimately elected delegation chairman.

Francis C. Greemberg, unsuccessful GOP candidate for governor this spring, raised the question whether Reese had been elected properly at a delegation meeting in Shreveport earlier in the month.

MILD PLANK

Some of Grevemberg's statements were disputed by Nealon Stracener of Baton Rouge. At one point, Grevemberg and Stracener shouted "lie" at one another.

When peace was restored, delegates took up the question of the party's civil rights plank.

Reese said he had been told last week the party would adopt a mild civil rights plank that might help it carry Louisiana. But, he added, a change had been made during the week.

The committee that drew up the civil rights plank split sharply yesterday after drawing up a moderate plank, and a floor fight on the question seemed likely.

As for the Republican presidential nomination, Reese said there was sentiment for both Vice President Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Reese said there was no support for New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Reese said if Nixon received the nomination on the first ballot — as appears likely — there would be strong delegation backing for Goldwater for the No. 2 spot.

Czech Couple Defects To West

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) —A Czech couple with two sons jumped overboard from an East-German ferry in the Baltic port of Gedser today in the same way another Czech family of five defected Sunday.

As the ferry, out of Warnemuende, entered the harbor, a man and woman, each carrying a boy—one 5, one 8—jumped overboard and began swimming. A pilot boat pulled them aboard.

Taken to a hospital, they said they would ask for political asylum in Denmark. Police withheld their names but it is understood the man is a professor in chemistry at the University of Prague.

The five who jumped Sunday, and also sought political asylum, were a Prague engineer; his wife, a scientist; their sons, 4 and 6, and the wife's mother, 62.

Waggonner Beats Heard; M'Keithen Wins; Long Alive

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ole Earl is still kicking politically.

Almost counted out after a losing race for lieutenant governor last winter, 64-year-old former Gov. Earl Long stormed back into the political arena Saturday by running a close second in a field of three in his bid to unseat Rep. Harold McSween in Louisiana's eighth district.

Now the patriarch of the family that has dominated Louisiana politics for more than three decades says he'll "certainly win" the primary runoff with McSween Aug. 27.

Long's first battle cry in the runoff campaign was a statement: "I'm going after Holt." His target is the 10,378 votes polled by Ben F. Holt, 34-year-old Alexandria attorney and one-time Long legislative leader in the state House of Representatives.

Holt could not be reached for comment on whom he might back in the runoff.

Almost complete unofficial totals showed McSween had run about 3,700 votes ahead of Long. With 315 of 316 precincts counted, McSween had 29,854 to 26,128 for Long.

Long predicted a turnout of 80,000 for the runoff, as compared with about 66,000 Saturday.

"I'll see that there are 80,000 polled," he said, adding, "in the runoff I'll beat McSween in every parish."

McSween, 34, completing his first term in Congress in the seat once held by Long's late brother, George S. Long, was equally confident of winning the runoff.

He called the results "a disappointment to both Long and his people," and said: "I think Mr. Long has polled his full strength. We'll win big."

Long was ineligible to run again for governor this year but plans another bid in 1964.

In other Louisiana voting Saturday, one congressional contest was decided, while another will require a runoff.

Rep. Edwin Willis, of the third district, trounced J. Minos Simons. With all 248 precincts reporting, Willis had 39,232 to 13,024 for Simons.

In the seventh district, Rep. T. A. Thompson missed a majority by 1,104 votes. Thompson, who had 40,596 votes, will face former state Sen. Arsene Stewart, who drew 26,913, in the runoff. Sam Tarleton, Lake Charles health and safety officer, drew 14,787 votes.

The state's five other representatives won renomination without opposition. Four of them, Reps. F. Edward Herbert in the first district, T. Hale Boggs in the second, Overton Brooks in the fourth and James Morrison in the sixth, will have Republican opposition in the November election. So will the winner of the Thompson-Stewart contest.

Only Rep. Otto Passman, in the fifth district, is unopposed.

The Republicans also held a primary Saturday featured by a contest for the GOP senatorial nomination to oppose veteran Democratic Sen. Allen J. Ellender. Returns from 301 of the state's 2,110 precincts gave George Reese Jr. the lead over William Dane, 355-162. Both are from New Orleans.

The turnout justified Republican leaders' fears that few of the state's 8,500 registered Republicans would show up to cast ballots.

Other Democratic contests included a seat on the State Su-

African Mobs Riot Against White Rulers

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—African mobs rioting against white rule were reported smashing shops, beer halls and cars in the black townships of Bulawayo today. Shots were heard in one area.

A strike of the African labor force followed disorders involving several thousand Africans Sunday night, finally put down by police backed by white British troops.

Negro agitators moved into the white suburbs of this commercial and industrial center of 52,000 in an effort to induce African servants to quit their jobs. Many did.

Some gasoline service stations usually operated by Negroes were staffed by white men today.

250 MILES

Troop reinforcements were ordered into Bulawayo and Southern Rhodesia's Premiei Sir Edgar Whitehead came to town with a message of assurance for white residents. He said the reinforcements will enable more positive steps to be taken.

Southenn Rhodesia forms part of the British-run Central African Federation, which lies between the chaotic Congo and the racially troubled Union of South Africa.

Bulawayo is 250 miles southwest of Salisbury, the capital of both Southern Rhodesia and the Federation. Other members of the federation are Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Police required help from soldiers Sunday night.

The Africans gathered near the site where the National Democratic party had planned to hold a meeting. The meeting was banned by the civil commissioner of Bulawayo.

Tear gas scattered the crowd, but it formed again into smaller groups and continued to stone cars entering the African township area.

TO BAR ORLEANS INTEGRATION

Gremillion Asks Restraining Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion today asked the state for a temporary restraining order to prevent the Orleans Parish school board from complying with federally-directed school integration in September.

Gremillion filed the action before Civil District Court Judge Oliver Carriere.

He was scheduled to act on the motion at 2 p.m. today.

Gremillion said a motion asking for a preliminary injunction against the school board would be filed Aug. 1.

The action this morning was designed to tie the school board's hands to prevent its compliance with an order issued by U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright on May 16.

"We've just started to fight," Gremillion told newsmen after filing the motion. "As far as I'm concerned, the public schools will operate in 1960 just like they did last year—on a segregated basis."

When the school board failed to submit a desegregation plan of its own for the term opening in September, Judge Wright told the board to integrate the first grade.

Gremillion's action claimed that Judge Wright lacked authority to declare state law unconstitutional. He said only the Legislature has the power to designated which schools should be integrated.

The action also contended that Judge Wright should have impaneled a three-judge court to rule on such matters. Wright failed to include the state in his May 16 order and hence the order did not affect state law, the suit alleged.

In 1956 the Legislature passed a law giving itself the sole power to classify or change the classification of public schools from all-white to any other classification.

Night Session Bitter; Details Kept Secret

Convention To Receive Plank On Wednesday

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Platform Committee after a sometimes bitter all-night session finally adopted today a civil rights plank containing a mixture of moderate and liberal proposals. Whether it thus bypassed a convention floor fight remained a question.

Details of the plank were not announced immediately.

The Republican National Convention opening today will not receive the plank formally until Wednesday night, when the full platform comes up for action.

The composite was worked out at a closed-door session that ground on until 6:40 a.m. At one point the committee rejected 52-32 a motion that it adjourn for the night.

The politically touchy civil rights problem was tossed to the full committee after a drafting subcommittee voted 8-7 for a plank more moderate than that urged by New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and supported by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Backers of both sides had threatened a floor fight if they lost.

Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin said the final product, although based on the moderates' proposals, included about half of the liberal-sponsored provisions.

Chairman Charles H. Percy said all votes were by voice, and no tally was taken.

Defeat of the liberals' offering followed claims by its supporters that many of their members had

Body In Grisly Slaying Identified

CAMP LEJEUNE N.C. (UPI)— Marine authorities today identified the beaten, bullet - pierced body of a man found stuffed in the trunk of an abandoned car as that of Sgt. Robert Eugene Schroder, a veteran of 17 years in the Marines.

Schroder, whose father lives in New Lebanon, Ohio, was stationed here at the time of his death.

The car in which the body was found near LaGrange, N.C., Sunday was towed here early today for investigation by Marine officers, FBI agents and civil authorities from Lenoir County.

The grisly slaying was discovered when a passerby noticed blood dripping from the trunk of a car parked at a service station on busy U.S. 70.

George Robbins, owner of the station, found the trunk unlocked and opened it. The 35-year-old gunnery sergeant, believed to have been dead three days, was severely beaten on the had and shot.

Elephant Wins Unscheduled Bout

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Rosie, a 7,340-pound elephant, scored a one-punch knockout over 140-pound Eddie Coles in the first round of an unscheduled bout Sunday at the Bristol Zoo.

Eddie, 17, gave the 32-year-old elephant a sandwich and she tried to take his hand along with it.

"Eddie stepped back, put up his fists and challenged the elephant to a fight," Eddie's Pal, Steve Turner, reported.

"Rose took one look, swung her trunk and cracked him right between the eyes. Eddie went out like a light."

Hospitalized with concussion, Eddie said: "I bear Rosie no ill will."

He added he has no plans for a return match.

7,500 Men Now Deployed Across Embattled Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, THE Congo (AP)—The United Nations airlift of troops into the Congo speeded up today, and the total of forces deployed over the new African nation approached 7,500 men.

U.N. military officials were hopeful of having more than 10,000 multiracial troops in the country by the end of the week.

With the port of Matadi again functioning, oil for Leopoldville and its big airlift airbase was being pumped through a pipeline and also was arriving by tank cars over the repaired railway line.

AIR CREWS

Maj. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, retired U. S. Army engineer who directed the clearing of the Suez Canal in 1956, arrived to help with oil operations at Matadi and for a troubleshooting job on the land transportation system.

The U.N. also expected the early arrival of pilots from Sweden, Norway, Brazil, Argentina and Yugoslavia to fly a special U.N. aircraft fleet.

The U. S. Air Force handed over the fleet of planes, including helicopters and small aircraft, but refused to furnish air crews. The Soviet Union protested a U. S. Army transmission unit flown here last week to help in U.N. communications. American officials said they would return to Germany.

The U.N. mission announced it is pushing a crash program to meet the Congo's pressing medical and financial needs. Most of the remaining Belgian doctors in the country said they intend leaving, and World Health Organiza-

PLANS MEETINGS

Rocky Holding New York Votes

By ROBERT T. GRAY

CHICAGO (AP) — New York's big delegation, under the firm control of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, was ready today to spearhead a convention floor fight for the platform he worked out with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Opposition developed in the platform committee to some parts of the Nixon-Rockefeller agreement.

While siding with Nixon in the platform fight, Rockefeller still was unwilling to release the New York delegates to endorse the vice president as the Republican presidential nominee.

The governor postponed until a meeting of the delegation Tuesday afternoon any decision on a presidential nominee.

The convention will select its nominee Wednesday night. Nixon, the only declared candidate, is considered assured of the assignment.

Rockefeller has continued to hold himself open to a draft, even while conceding that his chances of getting one are almost nonexistent.

His plans to meet today with the Montana, Wyoming and New Mexico delegations, and Tuesday with Illinois, helped keep alive speculation the New York governor still has hopes of winning the nomination.

A Rockefeller aide said his

President." He let it go at that.

An estimated 2,000 spectators were on hand at O'Hare International Airport to give Nixon and his smiling wife a greeting that was not too far from a mob scene. There were police arrangements to hold back the crowd but they didn't work.

RIGHTS FIGHT

After a brief arrival address delivered from an improvised platform beside the plane, Nixon and his family had about 100 yards to walk to helicopters waiting to take them to Meigs Field.

It was slow going through a press of spectators many tiers deep, with about two handshakes to the foot of progress.

In his brief arrival remarks, Nixon referred anew to the civil rights fight boiling in the convention itself.

Before his Washington takeoff he had said he would back a floor fight if necessary, for a strong declaration. That comment was made just a few hours after the Platform Committee here, after a tempestuous all-night session was reported to go only part way toward Nixon's views.

At the airport here, the vice president said he favors "an honest civil rights plank." A few minute later, at Meigs Field Nixon expressed confidence his views will be incorporated in the final product.

When the vice president's plane came to a halt at O'Hare the Nixons' daughters, Tricia, 14, and Julie, 12, beat the dignitaries to their welcome.

Floor Fight Looms; Governors Urge Open VP Contest

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — The Republicans launched their national convention today with whoops and applause for attacks on the Democrats—and also in bitter pull-and-tug over their platform, particularly the civil rights plank.

The split between the party moderates and liberals over the civil rights stand was so great that a convention floor fight appeared in prospect unless Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the all-but-certain nominee, can mediate the matter before it comes up in the convention Wednesday.

Nixon winged into town from Washington shortly after 11 o'clock and was greeted with a rousing airport demonstration, mainly from young Republicans.

It was an occasion for reunion too of the vice president and Mrs. Nixon with their young daughters, Tricia and Julie, who have been in camp in California.

Nixon has aligned himself for a strong civil rights plank. Before leaving Washington, he told a news conference he would back a floor fight, if necessary, for a strong plank.

BY TRADITION

But there was considerable grumbling in the party over what some conservatives called Nixon's surrender over the weekend to New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

During an all-night session of the platform committee, moderates succeeded in toning down a civil rights plank shaped to the Nixon - Rockefeller statement of principles of last Saturday morning.

While its wording was not disclosed, the plank was reported to

DeSiard Street Project 'Ahead Of 100-Day Schedule'

City officials and a spokesman for a consulting engineer firm said today that repair operations on DeSiard street would be finished "well ahead of the 100-day deadline" permitted in the contract.

DeSiard street, from Sixth street to Young's Bayou, has been torn up and unusable for the past six weeks. The lack of traffic on the street due to the obstruction has drawn serious protests from merchants along the route.

They contend the project is taking too long to conclude. "We don't mind progress, but we don't want to go broke because of progress," one merchant said.

J. D. Sandker, the engineering firm spokesman, said the project was proceeding with sufficient speed to conclude well ahead of schedule.

"There has been some delay," Sandker said, "but this was a result of an attempt to be practical after we found conditions in the subsurface that had not been anticipated."

Sandker said many old uncharted utility service lines were found after the project started. After consultations with various utilities representatives it was agreed that many of the old facilities should be replaced before the new street is laid.

It was pointed out that much of the sewer, water and other utility service lines were installed many years ago and were in bad condition. In addition, it was pointed out by Mayor W. L. Howard, much of this installation was uncharted, causing conflict with the street rebuilding operations.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the contracting firm handling the project said there would be "no further statement from us on the job."

Kennedy In New York For Unity Talks

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today he expects harmony can be achieved between squabbling New York Democratic factions, and hopes he can strengthen his hand there in the November election.

New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner told the senator the ticket "will win big" in New York.

The presidential nominee told reporters in an informal news conference on the lawn of his summer home he had received some "very helpful" advice and suggestions from Wagner.

Kennedy and the mayor conferred for two hours this morning.

The senator, among other things, said he also has sent his brother, Edward M. Kennedy to California with a message to Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

"New York and California—because of their size and geographical locations—are the anchors to our success," Kennedy said. His message to Brown, he said, deals with campaign plans and stressed the importance he attaches to the drive to register eligible voters.

The senator said he had invited Wagner during the national convention in Los Angeles to come here "to discuss some of the problems and opportunities" forced in New York.

Kennedy said that his brother, Robert F. who is his campaign manager, will meet again with Wagner in New York later this week. The senator said Robert also will meet with other New York Democratic leaders.

Wagner told newsmen he believed something could be worked out so that "everybody can get together."

He said the situation is one in which the various factions all want to support the ticket. "They've got a common cause for unity," he said.

Wagenr said no names were mentioned for chairman of the Citizens-for-Kennedy to which the Kennedy camp hopes to attract the rival factions behind him.

Kennedy and Wagner said the senator will visit New York City during the campaign but that no date has been set.

preme Court, a State Public Service Commission post and three seats on the State Board of Education.

In the Supreme Court race in the fifth district, family court Judge Joe Sanders of Baton Rouge defeated appeals court Judge Robert Jones of Bogalusa.

Returns from 321 of 328 precincts gave Sanders 50,601 votes to 45,810 for Jones. Jones conceded shortly after midnight Saturday and said he had extended his congratulations to Sanders.

The Public Service Commission race was won by John L. McKeithen of Columbia. McKeithen piled up a 89-233-26,550 lead over L. S. Hooper of Shreveport, with 717 of the third district's 773 precincts counted.

The Board of Education contests were highlighted by the resounding victory of former Lt. Gov. William Dodd over incumbent Merle Welsh of Baton Rouge in the sixth district. Dodd had 54,280 to 27,034 for Welsh on returns from 288 of the district's 295 precincts.

In the third district, J. D. Waggonner of Plain Dealing routed C. Raymond Heard of Ruston. Returns from 630 of 773 precincts gave Waggoner 61,892 to 37,583 for Heard.

In the seventh district, final returns from 265 precincts gave Dr. Boyd Woodard of Lake Charles 43,032 to 28,184 for Fulton Bacon of Basile.

meetings with the other states would involve only discussions on the platform.

Press secretary Robert McManus, said the various delegations had invited Rockefeller to appear and that he had not sought the meetings.

The governor said Sunday he saw little evidence of any support for a draft for him.

Other developments in the Rockefeller camp:

1. The 96-vote New York delegation, of which Rockefeller is chairman, voted unanimously to back the 14-point platform agreement between the governor and Nixon and to let the convention know how the state stood.

2. Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse was named chairman of a committee to look into the possibility of nominating a New Yorker as a favorite-son candidate for vice president. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating was being mentioned prominently.

3. Rockefeller told a meeting of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People he would wage a floor fight if necessary in support of a strong civil rights plan in the platform.

4. The governor, asked at every turn whether he would accept the vice presidential nomination, said that, if forced into it, he would make the classic refusal: "I will not run if nominated, I will not serve if elected."

DETAILS

left the meeting while moderate forces remained in full strength.

Rockefeller himself had opposed earlier not only the civil rights plank chosen by the subcommittee but also the national defense pronouncement adopted by the full committee.

"I will fight right here in Chicago," if necessary, he said, to put across his views.

The platform group obviously charted a policy course that missed by a wide margin the terms set out in a compromise worked out late last week by Rockefeller and Nixon.

It appeared the platform group is largely rejecting the new look of liberalism that Rockefeller has hoped to fasten on the GOP. This was true even though many of Rockefeller's ideas have been embraced by Nixon, the party's cinch presidential choice.

The completed GOP platform seemed destined to be far more moderate than the one adopted by Democrats. Republicans argued, however, that their promises had more chance of attainment that what they described as the something - for - everybody pledge of the Democrats.

Rockefeller's big 96-member New York delegation, endorsing his stand, gave him a free ticket to carry a fight to the convention floor where any platform conflicts still remaining will have to be thrashed out.

Many party conservatives, after earlier complaining the Nixon-Rockefeller pact was a "sellout" and an attempt to dictate convention policies, decided to accept the platform committee's work. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona said he planned no protest.

But Thad Hutcheson, head of the Texas delegation, said a boycott of Dixie delegates from convention sessions was among a number of "spectacular" steps being considered if the full platform group should reverse the subcommittee and accept the Nixon-Rockefeller stand.

This called for aggressive action to enforce racial equality in voting, schools, housing and jobs and encouraged businessmen to end lunch counter and other segregation.

On the other side, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania predicted the convention would adopt the stronger plank if it came to a vote there. He said he would carry the battle to the full convention if the committee chose the more moderate approach.

contain a mixture of moderate and liberal proposals.

Another problem for Nixon was a stand by a group of GOP governors that there should be an open contest for the vice-presidential nomination.

By tradition, a party presidential nominee ordinarily has a free hand in naming his own running mate. There has been every indication that Nixon intended to exercise this privilege although keeping silent as to the man he would tap.

Speculation over Nixon's choice has centered on U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the national chairman.

But the group of governors told newsmen after a conference that they thought there should be a number of nominations for vice president, and the choice left to the convention.

Gov. Harold W. Handley of Indiana said their expression of this view was "no rebellion," but that they thought "it would make a better convention if the vice-presidential race is open." He added that "whatever Nixon decides, we will go along with."

Other governors in the group included Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, Mark Hatfield of Oregon, Hugo Aronson of Montana, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware, Christopher Del Sesto of Rhode Island and William G. Stratton of Illinois.

The first session of the convention formally got under way about half an hour before Nixon hit town.

Stratton brought cheers from the delegates packing the hall by lambasting the opposition party in what was billed as a welcoming address.

"The record shows Democrat presidents failed not once, not twice but three times to keep us out of war," Stratton boomed.

The GOP faithful ate that up. Stratton called them, too, to get out in the precincts and work for a Republican victory.

Today's forenoon convention session was strictly a routine affair, devoted to welcoming addaddresses and preliminary organization.

Yet it was an occasion also for getting off ome initial shots at the common enemy — the Democrats.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, national chairman, hooted at the promises he said had been made to everybody in the Democratic platform. To carry them out, he declared, would add 15 to 20 billion dollars a year to government costs.

Morton said the Republicans would adopt "a realistic, honest platform that we can and will fulfill."

The Kentucky senator is one of those figuring high in speculation about a possible vice-presidential nominee.

But the betting favorite for the No. 2 spot was, at the moment, Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations.

Nixon will choose the vice-presidential nominee, as is traditional. At his meeting with reporters in Washington, he declined to discuss his choice for the spot except to say it will be a man who shares his views and one who would be qualified for the presidency if it should be necessary for him to take over that office.

Rockefeller probably would not let his name go before the convention as a presidential nominee.

But Rockefeller remained an enigma, with his position largely incomprehensible to the average delegate moving in the make-believe world of tooting bands and shouting cohorts that precedes the usually dull convention routine.

From his subterranean position as a non-candidate for either place on the ticket, Rockefeller threatened to shoot off about the only missile that might enliven the prosaic proceedings.

Although he wouldn't say it in as many words, the New York governor's complaint was directed at the heart of the Eisenhower administration's defense program.

The convention platform committee adopted language saying the Republicans have provided and will continue to provide "the defenses we need to protect our freedom." The plank promised efforts to improve defense and said "there is no price ceiling on national defense."

Rep. Glenard Lipscomb of California, chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the plank, said it was completed before Nixon and Rockefeller agreed on a statement of principles Friday night, and was not changed later.

Morton Derides Democrats For Costly Platform

CHICAGO (AP) — Republican Chairman Thruston B. Morton charged today that it would cost the government 15 to 20 billion dollars more a year to carry out pledges in the Democratic platform.

In a speech prepared to open the Republican National Convention, Morton also took issue with a statement by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Morton said he is confident "that our convention will nominate candidates who would never think of apologizing, or expressing regret on behalf of the United States, to Soviet Russia's Nikita Khrushchev."

Kennedy said shortly after the collapse of the Paris summit conference that he would have expressed regret to Khrushchev over the U2 spy plane incident. Khrushchev had demanded an apology from President Eisenhower, among other things, as a prerequisite to continuing the summit conference.

regard for the standards of international conduct."

As Lodge spoke, the chief Soviet delegate, Vasily V. Kuznetsov sat attentively erect, alternately twiddling his thumbs and jotting down notes.

In the spectators' gallery, the wives of the RB47 crewmen, their expressions grim, watched tensely as Lodge pointed with his finger to the maps upon which the plane's course was charted.

There were two maps, one of Western Europe showing the plane's route from England toward the Barents Sea, the other a detail map of the Kola Peninsula area with a red arrow showing the position of the Soviet fighter plane which Lodge claimed maneuvered the American craft from its course.

Lodge said the crew members of the RB47 were military personnel carrying out a legal flight over international waters and that their plane never had violated Soviet territorial waters. He said international law and custom demanded they have the right to be in contact with the U.S. mission is Moscow, but that this had been denied them.

"What more flagrant disregard of the standards of international conduct could there be—what plainer admission of guilt?" Lodge demanded.

"Last Friday, I appealed to you here in the Council to release these men. I now make a special appeal to the Soviet government. By your own admission you are holding Lts. John R. McKone of Tonganoxie, Kans., and Freeman B. Olmstead of Elmira, N.Y., from the crew of the RB47, as prisoners.

"This is an illegal act and you have up to now ignored our appeals to release these men and any other survivors who may be in your hands. We ask you once again to release them, and if there should be any delay in their release, to admit representatives of the International Red Cross to reassure their families of their well-being.

"We also ask you to tell us whatever you know about the men who are missing."

Lodge referred to scientific evidence of what happened to the RB47, but he did not go into detail about the manner in which this evidence was obtained.

U.S. delegation sources said this was deliberately withheld on grounds it was secret information the Soviet Union would very much like to know.

Norfolk Lunch Counters Integrate

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Quietly and without prior announcement, lunch counters in three variety stores have been opened to Negroes in this Atlantic port city.

The downtown lunch counters at Grant's, Woolworth's and Krese's were scenes of repeated sitdowns in the spring by students.

A group of Negro clergymen was served at the counters Saturday. They spread the word to their congregations that Negroes will be served when they request service.

Behind the change of policy of the stores—which previously had held to the line of local custom in refusing to serve Negroes—apparently was the loss of profits resulting from an economic boycott.

tion officials were trying to get help locally and also to recruit staffs abroad.

The treasury and currency situation was reported so precarious that it appeared many Aug. 1 payrolls could not be met, and the long term outlook for replenishing government revenues was gloomy so long as the economy remained largely paralyzed.

The Congo's biggest political problem—what to do about the secession of rich Katanga province—apparently awaited Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival Thursday for visit of three or four adys.

Get Aureomycin At Royal Feed To Protect Cattle

Cattlemen, there's only one best way to beat Anaplasmosis, the dreaded disease that attacks so many southern cattle, and that is with Aureomycin. Many southern farmers and ranchers have done just that, and saved thousands of dollars.

Constant research is being conducted in this field, and nothing has proved as effective as Aureomycin. This was proved two years in succession — '58 and '59 —when Aureomycin gave exceptionally fine results in preventing and controlling this costly, insect-borne disease in many southern areas.

John Birdsong, owner of Royal Feed and Seed where Aureomycin is in stock, can show you reports on this amazing formula feed containing Aureomycin. One report says, "around 15,000 head of cattle were fed Aureomycin in Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi in 1958 and LESS THAN ONE PER CENT WERE AFFECTED WITH ANAPLASMOSIS."

Another research report from Oklahoma shows a complete positive result in an experiment with 15 anaplasmosis - inoculated steers. The group fed a concentrate with Aureomycin did not become infected, while the others not so fed were infected.

And as Birdsong points out, Aureomycin is not only a protector of your beef cattle, but dairy cattle as well, assuring superior milk production.

Royal Feed and Seed has data on tests and production resulting from experiments with dairy cattle. Call or drive by Royal Feed and inquire about Aureomycin and how to feed it.

To keep cattle healthy and gaining fast — Feed Aureomycin.

HERE ARE Aureomycin Crumbles which protects cattle from Anaplasmosis. It also aids milk production of dairy stock. See story above about this great formula for keeping cattle healthy and profits high. (Staff photo)

IMPORTANT NEWS OF TWIN CITIES BUSINESS

4 Members Of Family Killed

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — A single-engine airplane crashed into a hillside Sunday near the western Pennsylvania community of Centerville, killing the four occupants, all members of a Maryland family.

Killed were Richard Callison, 46, Rockyville, Md., the pilot; his wife, Marcela, 49; and two daughters, Sally Ann, about 12, and Betsy Jane, 9. Two other daughters were home.

Federal Aviation Authority officials said the plane apparently ran out of gas in a dense morning fog.

4 Negroes Way Out Of Running In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Four Negro candidates finished way out of the running, as incumbent Mayor-President Jack Christian and state Rep. A. T. (Apple) Sanders clinched spots in the Aug. 27 runoff for the city's top post.

Christian received 19,365 votes and Sanders, 11,891 to pace the seven-man field in Saturday's Democratic primary.

A Negro, Dupuy Anderson, came in fourth with 5,751, only 200 behind city councilman William F. Bernhard, who finished third.

The district attorney race ended in a runoff between city Judge Lawrence Uter and former assistant district attorney Sargent Pitcher, who ran on a strong segregation platform. A Negro, Johnnie Jones, ran fourth.

In city council voting for seven seats, the only Negro candidate, Murphy Bell, polled 3,865 votes to run 16th in a field of 17.

'Me-Tooism' Fades From GOP Scene

Since the Democrats have included a nominal "conservative" in their two from runners for the 1960 elections, it makes for interesting speculation that the GOP may do something similar.

Those who regard Vice President Nixon as a liberal may want to choose Sen. Barry Goldwater—a conservative in label and deed — as a running mate for the presidency.

On the other hand, those who feel Nixon is already conservative enough might prefer a "middle of the roader" such a Thurston Morton of Kentucky.

Meanwhile, the Republican propaganda directors are proud of the stockpile of verbal missiles they have accumulated from the charges candidate Johnson hurled at candidate Kennedy prior to and during the opening days of the Los Angeles Convention.

One of the charges was a blast at Sen. Kennedy's father, recalling the time he served as U.S. Ambassador to England in 1937-40, and had been accused as a "pro-Nazi" and had failed to carry out Roosevelt's anti-Nazi foreign policy.

Actually the charge was false as many of the Republican and Democratic observers stationed in England at that time will readily attest. His sentiments at the time reflected the views prevailing in the British Foreign Office to avoid conflict with the belligerent German Nazis and turn the German might against the Russian Communists. Not only the elder Kennedy but other diplomatic and military men in the United States, as Herbert Hoover and General A. C. Wedemeyer, shared that view.

The present plight of the western nations confirmed the wisdom of their advice, which was overruled.

But be that as it may, the Republicans have the "name calling" from one group of Democrats to another on record for campaign ammunition.

Beyond this stockpile, however, is the problem of picking a running mate if Vice President Nixon's strength moves him into the top position.

Apparently out to offer some competition for the presidency or to make a strong showing, possibly for a future election, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has made arrangements for trainloads of "Rocky" fans to arrive from New York.

Expensive "twinkle" buttons have been made and will be distributed to the demonstrating fans. The New York governor was so impressed by the massive and enthusiastic Stevenson demonstrations until he is apparently going to set up a few for himself this week.

The GOP platform is also being shaped so as to fit the specifications of Gov. Rockefeller in case he choose to run on the Nixon ticket. Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut has told newsmen that the labor and commerce plank in the Republican platform would be one on which Rockefeller could run. Bush added he would not rule out the possibility of the New York governor's running.

Nixon supporters do not regard the differences of opinion between the two men as very great. But the Rockefeller camp has let it be known that the vice president and their favorite are still somewhat apart on the defense and foreign policy issues. In shaping the platform, Vice President Nixon said both Rockefeller and Goldwater were being consulted.

More and more, the contest is shaping up over the issues of platform—in particular the civil rights and government spending planks — and Democratic liberalism versus Republican moderation.

While there is a measure of similarity between the two sides of the contest, the Republican "me-tooism" of the 1940-48 period will remain absent in the pre-November campaign speeches in 1960.

Gov. Al Smith of New York was a canny politician, but first he was a practical man to get services needed by the public at large. He once said: "We have had a good many political superintendants of highways. Now we want one who knows how to build roads."

Idaho still has plentyful supply of bear, deer, coyotes and mountain goats for hunters.

Military Bases And Alliances

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like drawing a circle around a frog and telling him not to jump out of it. This is what the United States did with Russia. And it worked, too, until the frog jumped.

And that's what put America in its latest dilemma.

Back in 1947, when George F. Kennan was head of the State Department's policy planning staff, he outlined an American plan followed ever since. As he said, it meant "holding the line and hoping for the best."

The idea was to ring Russia—then infinitely weaker than the United States—with military bases and alliances to keep it from pushing or overrunning her neighbors.

At that time, 13 years ago, the Soviet Union had no hydrogen bomb, no missiles, and Red China didn't exist. The mainland was still being run by Chiang Kai-shek, the American ally. But Kennan was doing some wishful thinking:

1. That this containment policy — military encirclement — would not only keep the Russians behind their own frontiers but would put internal pressure on the Soviet government.

2. That the pressure might hasten Soviet collapse internally or at least force a change of direction or intent because, Kennan felt and wrote, Russia contained within itself the seeds of its own destruction.

Up till now the containment policy has kept the Russians from bulldozing their immediate neighbors. But, contrary to Kennan's hopes, instead of collapse the Soviet Union's internal development has been phenomenal.

Now, 13 years later, the Russians have the hydrogen bomb, missiles probably capable of hitting America, an industrial production second only to that of the United States, and a population apparently content and loyal.

Russian strength has increased so tremendously that only this week New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the balance of power has shifted to the Soviet Union. The Russians have been acting as if they believed that, too.

They still can't, without risking war, push directly against the American circle drawn around them. So they have done the obvious and next-best thing for them. They have leapfrogged out of the circle.

They have done it not only by the usual propaganda and intrigue but by promises of both economic and event military help to countries on the American side of the circle. This is the most glaring example: the economic deals with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba and a warning to the United States to keep hands off. Thus the Russians, without resorting to war to smash the circle, have hopped over and are trying to set up shop in America's backyard.

This almost certainly is only the beginning of such efforts to penetrate, by one means or another, the Latin American world. And Russia's efforts to penetrate Africa will be even more barefaced.

The American government can hardly dissuade the Russians from encroaching in areas close to the United states by complaining this is our backyard.

The Russians can answer by pointing out that for years the United States sent troops into the Middle East at the request of the government of Lebanon.

There would be a difference, of course. There were no United Nations troops already in Lebanon to keep order as there are now in the Congo.

And the worst is yet to come. Mainland China, now in Red Chinese hands, in a few years with Soviet help, should be militarily strong enough to inflict the miseries on the American containment policy in the Far East.

Where does it all lead to? Some guesses can be made.

The United States will need new ideas in dealing with the Communist world. Kennan himself a couple of years ago was shifting around to the idea of a pullback in Europe.

This country will probably, in some fashion, have to make revisions in its containment policy and develop new programs to keep the rest of the world neutral or out of Communist hands.

Kennedy's Rage In Los Angeles

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CHICAGO — I confess that Herbert Hoover's stately, not to say stuffy, dignity offended me when he was campaigning against Al Smith and Frank Roosevelt and during his presidency, too. But my hankering for vulgarity at that level must have abated because Jack Kennedy's insulting personal attacks on Vice President Nixon and Barry Goldwater have frightened me lest he sweep multitudes of fanatics into the streets with God knows what consequences during the campaign and after. He plainly implied that Nixon had cheated in some past political activities without bothering to specify any facts and the hateful personal tenor of his entire speech of acceptance was something new in my long experience of presidential politics and strangely alarming.

Thinking backward, at serious risk of total disqualification as an elder who is living in the past, I recall no example of such abusive conduct in all the years since 1912 when I covered the Taft convention. F. D. Roosevelt taunted Tom Dewey in his kick-off speech before the drunken mob of goons of the teamsters' union in the Washington Statler in 1944. But he did not mention Dewey's name and I cannot recall any other instance in which one candidate did mention another's.

They usually, if not always hitherto in modern times, have indicated that they were discussing the other nominee but without soiling their lips. I would not suggest that it is offensive for one to mention the other or even to resort to genteel contempt or ridicule. But there was no term short of rage to describe Kennedy's in Los Angeles.

Al Smith was surely a man of the people but though he despised Hoover and even though Hoover's managers roweled him with contemptuous propaganda, Smith remained a gentleman, if somewhat uncouth, through it all. He had spoken of his "larynx" and pronounced "radio" as "raddio" and these errors stung when they were thrown back sneeringly but never by Hoover himself. They plainly insinuated that Al was an ignorant street urchin grown up, as, in fact, he was. But he remained the gentleman as long as he lived. And though Smith might have bidden many uncouth individuals to the White House had he been elected, he never would have had the slightest personal traffic with the likes of Jack Kennedy's Hollywood "clan" under Frank Sinatra, including Sammy Davis Jr., George Jessel, Dean Martin and Judy Garland.

Franklin Roosevelt first gave such people entree to the White House. They seemed to meet his social, intellectual and moral standards and the rest of us never have tried to censor a president's list of friends and guests. Jack Kennedy's father, Joe, had a career as a financier in Hollywood and his daughter, Pat, is the wife of Peter Lawford, who is one of Sinatra's group. So there is no right to complain of the company that Jack keeps, even though he should invite them all, and Zsa Zsa, too, to roll up the rugs at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

Harry Truman's give-'em-hell campaign was not as coarse as that descriptive will suggest to history. He was a belligerent, vigorous speaker with strong mob appeal but I do not recall that he ever made any insulting personal remarks about Dewey or Eisenhower. His one memorable slug at Nixon was defensive and laughable at his own expense. Truman said Nixon had called him a traitor becuse of his tolerance of Harry Dexter White who certainly was a traitor, after the FBI had warned him of White's treachery. But Nixon denied calling him a traitor except to the Democratic party and, altogether, Truman's howl was hilarious coming from an alley fighter who liked to play rough.

Nixon has often been accused of "dirty work" against Jerry Voorhees, the Congresman whom he beat for his first seat on Capitol Hill, and against Helen Gahagan Douglas. But in both cases he merely made use of truthful information about their attitude toward Communists at a time when Communists had all the best of things in Washington and especially in Washington journalism.

Barry Goldwater can fight Kennedy any style Kennedy elects. But his preference is dignity and intelligence in controversy.

In fact, a debate between Barry and Congressman Stewart Udall, a Mormon and a Democrat, on federal aid to state education in Tucson a few months ago was as notable for their politeness and honesty as for their knowledge of their topic and their skill in debate.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Do the Russian people go to church? I thought their god as Lenin.

A.G.

ANSWER: Thousands of people go to church in Russia. There are, for instance, over 5,000 Baptist churches in the Soviet Union. I met some of the most dedicated Christians in Moscow I have ever met anywhere. It costs them something to be a Christian. It costs them the good will of their neighbors. It costs them economic losses because they are discriminated against, and the better jobs are given to members of the Party. If a young person becomes a Christian, he cannot even attend the University, and if he doesn't get a good education, he will always be in the lower income bracket. But I met many young people in Moscow, carrying their Bibles, witnessing for Christ, and all with the knowledge that such dedication would be costly, economically and socially.

It is encouraging and stimulating to know that Christ's call is supreme even in a country which frowns upon Christianity, and that thousands in Russia have put Christ before Lenin or Khrushchev. We should pray for these Christians, for I am sure they are living the Christian life under the most unfavorable circumstances of modern times.

Reds Say Nixon Protege Of John Foster Dulles

BY FULTON LEWIS JR.

WASHINGTON—On the eve of the Republican national convention which is to nominate him for the presidency, Richard Milhous Nixon is drawing an ever increasing measure of attack from Radio Moscow.

The broadcasts are beamed to the Soviet homeland, Europe, Africa and the United States and are relayed by satellite radios to their own captive audiences.

The East German radio, for instance, attacks Nixon as a "cold-blooded opportunist." While a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee he was one of the "most savage witch-hunters against progressive Americans." Worse than that, Nixon has been a "zealous protagonist" of John Foster Dulles' cold war policies.

Moscow Radio used Soviet correspondents in the United States to write radio scripts about Nixon's career. A recent broadcast beamed to Africa began, "What sort of a person is Mr. Nixon, America's Number Two man in the administration?"

A veteran Moscow hack named V. Rogov described Nixon's career, beginning in 1946 when "the millionaires of California needed someone who would take care of their interests in Congress. Both in the House of Representatives and in the Senate, as well as when he took over the vice presidency, Nixon has always defended the interests of his bosses. And they responded by generously donating to his unofficial fund."

There followed a lengthy, distorted treatment of Nixon's "millionaire, slush fund," and of the 1952 campaign. Radio Moscow grudgingly admitted that Nixon and the "imperialists" won election. Commentator Rogov continued:

"When Mr. Nixon became U.S. vice president, he was comparatively little known in the country. All people knew about him was what he himself told them in his election speeches: that he was very fond of his little dog Checkers, that he considered this dog a member of his family, that he enjoyed a game of golf. But he was careful not to say aloud that he liked gifts, offerings, McCarthyism, and of course, American imperialism."

As a protege of late Secretary of State Dulles, Nixon, according to Radio Moscow, is schooled in the arts of spying, summit-wrecking and war-mongering. The Communist radio, in fact, has given considerable credence to a unique theory of Sen. John Kennedy's:

"Eisenhower could only have expressed his regret to Khrushchev about the U-2 incident, but he could not have satisfied the Soviet Premier's demand to punish the persons responsible because that would have meant Vice President Nixon, first and foremost."

The Soviet radio was plugging right up to the Democratic convention for a Stevenson-Kennedy ticket. The New York correspondent for Izvestia wrote that such a "dream ticket" would sweep the country, for, in the words of Premier Khrushchev, Stevenson has performed "noble work in strengthening the peace and the development of international cooperation."

Kennedy, Moscow Radio continued, was also a "strong advocate of improvement in relations with the Soviet Union and in the international climate." In addition, "Kennedy is a Catholic, and consequently would have the votes of Catholic voters, of whom there are approximately 10 million."

There has been little comment since the Democratic convention on the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. Moscow radio did note approvingly, however, that Kennedy has "reckoned with the mood of the American public and condemned Washington's adventures and urged a reappraisal of the present course of U.S. foreign policy."

Johnson has never been popular with the Communists, especially since the summit break-up. While Kennedy received praise for suggesting that Eisenhower save the conference by "expressing regret" over the U-2 flights, Johnson was hit hard for supporting the President. Moscow radio summed up its feelings about the Texan:

"He has shown by his entire work in Congress and his attitude on the U-2 incident that he follows in the wake of aggressive Eisenhower-Nixon policy."

Reasons Why Sen. Johnson Accepted Vice Presidency

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

LOS ANGELES—Just why did Senator Lyndon Johnson accept the vice presidential nomination of the Democratic party after what he had aid publicly in disparagement of the candidacy of Senator Kennedy?

The easy and perhaps superficial answer is that politics is politics, and that what is said before or during a convention bears no resemblance to what is said afterward as the previously rival candidates for the nomination now wave their arms in the air and unabashedly cry out for "a united party."

But there is something else back of it all this time.

When word was being passed around the convention hall last Thursday that Senator Johnson had accepted Mr. Kennedy's offer of the vice presidential nomination, a close adviser of the Texas senator approached this correspondent and said:

"I know you will be surprised about this, but last night several of us had a talk with Senator Johnson and discussed very frankly what we were up against.

"Bear in mind that the labor leaders fought Johnson for the top place on the ticket, and they don't like him. Bear in mind that Jack Kennedy will make a campaign on virtually a socialistic platform. He may be less radical if elected, but he will be plenty radical in the campaign. What is that going to do to us in the South during the coming session of Congress and later on?

"Well, many of us in the Johnson camp felt he just had to get in there and exercise a restraining influence. If elected, Lyndon Johnson will have considerable power inside the Senate, just as he has had as majority leader. I tell you his influence will be exerted toward safe and sane policies, and he will be in there pitching. We told him he just had to accept the vice presidential nomination if offered to him. He had nothing to lose if defeated, because he would remain as majority leader."

There are many people wondering nevertheless how the Texas senator happened to swallow the platform plank on "civil rights" which pledges the federal government to end racial discrimination "in all areas of community life." This would appear to mean in private schools and in clubs and in the employment policies of all business establishment throughout the South.

The hypocrisy exhibited at the convention here last week was, to be sure, rather brazen, and much of the phraseology of the party platform is, of course, discounted as merely designed to win votes. In the South, however, the story may yet prove to be different.

Thus the public has been told that all the Democratic leaders, with few exceptions, have agreed to stay "loyal" to the party and go along with the nominees now that Lyndon Johnson has been given a place on the ticket. But the assumption that this will carry the electoral votes of the South may prove fallacious. The voters of the South will make up their own minds. Party organizations can go just so far. Not long ago, in South Carolina, for instance, a regular Democratic organization candidate was running for the United States Senate. The voters disregarded the name of the regular nominee on the printed ballot and wrote in the name of former Governor Strom Thurmond, and he won. This can happen again.

Much has been heard about the right to vote and much is being said about the obligation to vote. In different areas it may be expected that the people of the South will exercise their privilege of writing in the names of a slate of independent electors. The distribution in advance of slips of paper containing these names will doubtless be made as an aid to those who do not wish to vote for the party electors who are pledged to support in the electoral college the regular Republican or Democratic nominees for president and vice president.

There has been a good deal of talk about the "write-in" movement, and it was given considerable momentum by the fact that the most extreme wording from the point of view of the South was used in the "civil rights" plank adopted in the Democratic platform.

In a close election the existence of a bloc comprising independent electors could hold the balance of power in the electoral college. In the 1948 election, Harry Truman was deprived of 39 electoral votes in the South through the independent electors pledged to Strom Thurmond.

Senators and Representatives in Congress from southern states find themselves so tied in with the party organization that they themselves cannot break away from it by deserting the national party nominees. This, however, doesn't prevent other leaders from emerging who, sensing the popular reaction, will organize the protest vote.

It remains to be seen how far the people of the South, who have been fighting with their backs to the wall, will go this time to express themselves on an issue of their own "civil rights"—the privilege to hire whom they please or to send their children to private schools when all public schools are integrated.

DEPRIVED OF DREAMS

Dreaming is part of normal slumber and takes up one-fifth of the total sleep time. Most of us have four or five dreams every night but seldom recall them. These and many other facts on dreams have been uncovered by William Dement, of New York City's Mount Sinai hospital.

A major break thru occurred in this field when it was discovered that the eyes move back and forth during a dream, as tho the sleeper were watching the events taking place. These eye movements occurred in cycles thruout the night and accompany the variations that take place in the depth of sleep. The mean duration of a single period of eye movements was 20 minutes, indicating that dreams last longer than we thought previously.

If dreaming is normal, what happens to a person if his dream life is suppressed completely or partially? Dr. Dement decided to research the problem with eight young men and reported the results in the June issue of Science. The subjects slept in the laboratory and eye movements and brain wave tracings were determined by electronic devices. The men were awakened the moment it was determined that a dream was developing, and were forced to sit up and remain fully awake for several minutes. This was done for five consecutive nights.

The first night each man had the usual number of dreams and was awakened each time. The dreams increased and, by the fifth, many were dreaming twice as often as they had on the first night. One man was aroused seven times the first night and 24 times the last. In other words, the more the dreams were suppressed, the more the mind tried to dream. A certain amount of dreaming each night appears to be necessary.

Meanwhile, the men developed many behavioral changes such as anxiety, irritability, and difficulty in concentrating. One quit the study in an apparent panic. In a second group of experiments, the men were awakened between dreams. None of the symptoms described occurred, showing that the effect was not due to repeated awakening.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TIME FOR PREGNANCY

Mrs. A. A. writes: What is the best time for pregnancy?

REPLY

Your question can be answered in several ways. If you refer to the most fertile time, it is midperiod. If you mean the age of the mother, our statisticians tell us that 80 per cent of women under 20 are delivered spontaneously in contrast to 25 per cent aged 35 and over. If you are inquring about the best month, a baby born in August has this reputation, which means a November conception.

SMOKING AND CONSTIPATION

J. F. writes: Does heavy smoking cause constipation?

REPLY

No. In fact, some people find that a cigaret in the morning stimulates regularity.

HIGH ON THYROID

K. M. writes: I have been put on throid tablets. They make me feel wound up and jittery. Is this a normal reaction to the medicine?

REPLY

Not unless you are getting too much or you do not need the thyroid tablets.

NOSE PUSHING

E. M. writes: I'm the only one in the family who can push my nose flat against my face. What makes my nose so soft and spongy?

REPLY

Not enough cartilage and bone, plus too much pushing.

Rocky Travels As If Borne On Draft

CHICAGO (UPI)—Nelson Rockefeller swirled around Chicago Sunday as if borne on a draft.

The 52-year-old governor barely skirted a 60-second skirmish between "Petticoats for Rockefeller" and young ladies bearing the Nixon imprint.

He entered a vast Negro church as the choir reached the very crescendo of "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah;" then went on to a TV studio where he gave Barry Woldwater his familiar simultaneous handshake and bicep squeeze.

Sunday night he and the tall, slender, Mrs. Rockefeller — who was at his side daylong — gave a reception for the New York delegates and prepared to throw a dance tonight for all the 2,662 national delegates and their guests.

His 90-extension switchboard at the Sheraton Towers flashed constantly and, should that prove insufficient, the hotel furnished his staff one-way radio receivers to get urgent messages inside the hotel. The delegation had 375 of the 450 bedrooms with 183 just for guests, families and friends.

Delegates received a tabloid sized newspaper named "Convention Call." It had the headline: "Airport crowd roars hello to Rockefeller" and above was the streamer: "Draft Rocky's support growing."

Through it all Rockefeller maintained that only a genuine draft could entice him and he had the simple if obvious definition of such a draft — one in which he had more than 666 votes needed to nominate him.

Migrant Workers Held In Death

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Police held two migrant workers today for questioning in the death of Barbara J. Kelly, 14-year-old Negro cherry picker from Bogalusa, La.

Questioned were Isaias C. Pena, 19, and Jesus G. Garaz, 26, both of Brownsville, Tex.

The girl's body was found on a roadside Saturday near Traverse City. A motorist said his car struck the body, but he was sure the girl was already dead. He was not held.

Nixon Children Cinch To Get Gum Chewing Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) —Pat Nixon told reporters today she thinks her two daughters will get "the gum-chewing vote."

She expressed this view, with a smile, before taking off in a plane with her husband, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, for the Republican National Convention at Chicago.

In explanation, she noted that daughter Julie, 12, was chewing gum when she and her sister, Tricia, 14, arrived by plane in Chicago Sunday from California with their grandmother.

Mrs. Nixon, in Washington, saw it on the television camera. She guessed that the stewardess on the plane had given the gum to Julie.

Mrs. Nixon took off in a bright blue dress with a tulle hat to match. She said she woke up at 5 a.m. today — probably because packing clothes was on her mind, since she hadn't done it the night before.

DREAM BRIDGE CLOSER

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI)—Sicily's great gream of a bridge linking it to the mainland is moving a small step closer to reality.

Admirers Of 'New Cuba' On Bivouac

HAVANA (UPI) — Thousands of admirers of the "new Cuba" headed into the Sierra Maestra today for a massive bivouac honoring Fidel Castro's 26th of July revolutionary movement.

Leading the official honor roll of Iron Curtain guests was a Red Chinese trade delegation which last weekend bought 500,000 tons of Cuban sugar to initiate a five-year economic pact.

Members of the high - level Peiping mission won a lusty ovation at a Santiago rally Sunday when they joined President Osvaldo Dorticos in heralding a "new Cuba" that will be able to withstand U. S. "imperialism" and "aggression."

The government confidently predicted that a million persons would be encamped in and around the former Castro guerrilla headquarters of El Caney de Las Mercedes when the premier arrives there Tuesday to launch the 7th aniversary celebration.

However, there were indications that Roman Catholic officials and other anti - Communist quarters were attempting to dissuade Cubans from attending the mountainside rally, as well as the Communist - supported Latin American Youth Congress which coincides with it.

A church bulletin distributed to all Sunday masses in the city of Camaguey declared flatly that "the Latin American Youth Congress is Communist and no Catholics should take part in it."

Teenagers Bear Down On Critic

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Who cares if the sun doesn't shine while I'm on vacation and looking for beaches upon which to barbecue myself?

I've got letters to keep me warm. Any time I feel the need for fresh air and heat, I turn to the letters I've received from teenagers. The kids are at their best when it comes to telling me off after I've been less than 100 per cent enthusiastic, all - out, headlong, headstrong and worshipful inevaluating some of their idols.

After I expressed some disappointment over a recent Pat Boone special, on grounds that it wasn't truly youthful enough, the teenage temperatures went up. Here are some selected samples:

"You are down - right like wrong, dad. Let's face it, dad, like YOU have a tin ear." From V. W., Cincinnati.

"You're on your way to nowhere." From G. G., Salem, Ore.

"I hope you make a move soon Bellevue, Ohio.

"If ever I burn anyone in effigy, I know exactly who the chosen one will be — you." J.M., Charlotte, N. C.

"Are you nearing idiocy?" M., 12-year-old, Philadelphia.

"Why don't you go on the program and take their place? Then see how many people would complain." B. S., Elkhart, Ind.

"You are misinformed. Please, may I ask in the name of all teenagers — that you keep the first and most morbid of your feelings to yourself in respect to the youth in this world." L. W., 14-years-old, Anderson, Ind.

"You smell. If you didn't like it you didn't have to watch it." F. F., "Average Teenager," Phoenix, Ariz.

"Indeed you are a square. In fact — by your own comments—a cube. Do you need glasses: Please keep your nasty little opinions to yourself." M. S. and S. G., Yardley, Pa.

"I feel and lots of others feel that it is completely none of your business and you should keep your big nose out of it all." "An Interested Teenager," Kannapolis, N. C.

"I think you were just terrible . . . I know there is freedom of the press but that was really rotten!" S. H., "A Teenage Girl," Glastonbury, Conn.

"I don't mean to sound like I dislike you but I thought that was a very forward review you wrote." A Reader" Xenia, Ohio. Ohio.

"It seems to me you don't like anything that is good. Whatever it is you tear it down like paper. It is a shame you don't like good music." "A Teenager," Jacksonville, Fla.

"All sorts of allowances are made for the illusion of youth; and none, or almost none, for the disenchantments of age." That last one didn't come in the mail. It's from a book by Robert Louis Stevenson.

QUOTES

NEW YORK—Robert W. Sarnoff chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Co., asserting that the national political convention is out of date.

"I must say in all candor that, in this second decade of nationwide television, a political convention has the musty, archaic air of another era."

CHICAGO—Rep. Melvin Laird (R-Wis.), vice chairman of the GOP Platform Committee, stating that the committee rejected key language in the Nixon-Rockefeller platform recommendation in drafting the defense and other planks:

"We're writing the platform in this committee."

SAN FRANCISCO—A armored car guard who had to watch over a shipment of newly minted coins all night because they arrived at the mint to early.

"I sure didn't count on this."

PATERSON, N.J.—Miss Marion Van Harken, a 3-foot-6-inch spokesman for the annual convention of the Little People of America, explaining one of the problems midgets have:

"We're asking that big people treat us as adults and not as children."

Church-Goers Leap To Safety As Beam Falls

NEW YORK (AP) — When The Rev. William Russell Miller came into the church just before the first morning service Sunday, he noticed that a huge ceiling beam had worked loose from the left wall.

He decided to go ahead with services, but told the congregation as they filed in to sit on the right side of the church.

That service went along without incident.

During the 11 A.M. service, a loud creaking noise distracted the parishioners of St. Simon the Cyrenian African Orthodox church in Brooklyn.

The service over, the people began to file out. Most of them were at the door when the beam came loose and the left wall fell in with a roar.

About a dozen of the 45 parishioners were still inside when the ceiling came down, but they leaped to safety through windows. No one was seriously hurt.

When police and firemen arrived, only the right and rear walls were standing, the right wall leaning perilously.

A police official called it a miracle. The Rev. Mr. Miller agreed. But he spoke ruefully of the $3,000 the congregation had raised to repair the 70-year-old structure.

"Now," he said, "I guess we'll just have to build a new church."

Mystery Grave Found On Farm

LYLES, Tenn. (AP) — A small animal lies buried on a farm near here, unidentified to the public but with seven floral wreaths as a tribute.

The grave was discovered recently by Mrs. Audie Martin, who owns the farm. At its side lay a wreath. Six older ones had been placed aside.

There was a funeral home marker but nothing else to indicate who placed the flowers.

"I can't imagine why anyone who loved an animal that much, to go to the trouble of burying it and laying flowers on the grave, would choose land they didn't own and so far away from a road," said Mrs. Martin.

"Those seven wreaths cost about $5 each and they had been placed there regularly," said funeral home owner W.E. McDonald. "The most recent one was only a month old."

McDonald said the animal was "probably a cat or a dog." It's about the size of a small beagle.

"We're not mad," said Mrs. Martin. "Just curious."

Dewey Denies Arranging Nixon, Rockefeller Truce

CHICAGO (AP)—A spokesman for former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey denied today that Dewey arranged the meeting last weekend between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Nelson A. Rockefeller, the present New York governor.

The report that Dewey set up the conference appeared in a story written from here for the Pottstown (Pa.) Mercury by Roger S. Firestone, a member of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. family.

Firestone, described by the newspaper as a close friend of both Nixon and Rockefeller, is writing a series for the Mercury on his observations of the Republican National Convention. He is a delegate from Pennsylvania.

Nixon's own report of the circumstances of his long night session with Rockefeller, given in a news conference, is that he originated the meeting with a telephone call to the New York governor.

Dewey, twice the Republican nominee for president, has described the principles agreed to between Nixon and Rockefeller at the meeting as "a superb statement."

Hearst Papers Urge Rocky To Accept VP Post

NEW YORK (AP)—The Hearst newspapers today called upon New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to run for vice president on the Republican ticket for the sake of the party.

A New York Journal-American editorial was signed by William Randolph Hearst Jr. and carried on the front pages of all Hearst newspapers.

"Lyndon Johnson acted big when he took second place on the Democratic ticket, although he preferred his own important post of Senate majority leader and although it meant shelving his ambitions for the White Houe," the editorial said.

"But what of Rockefeller and his continued attitude that he will not play on the ball team unless he is allowed to be the pitcher? His party has turned to him to provide strength he can give by playing the less spotlighted position of vice president."

"It was as a Republican—not as an independent—that Rockefeller was elected governor of New York with the backing of his party. Now his party has need for him. We think he has an obligation to put his own frustrated ambitions aside," it said.

Barnett Reports Mail Heavily Supporting Him

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett said today he has received hundreds of letters and telegrams supporting his Democratic convention stand against a liberal civil rights plank.

Barnett said he had heard from virtually every state, with the overwhelming majority asking a conservative third party ticket for president. He said the writers represented both Democrats and Republicans protesting left-wing trends.

The governor discused his mail as the state Democratic Executive Committee prepared for its Wednesday meeting here to discuss calling the state convention back into session. The leaders will talk about freeing electors from any duty to vote for the Democratic ticket and possibly about a third party.

Three Arrested For Driving While Intoxicated

Law enforcement officers in the Twin Cities arrested four persons for operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. Three of the arrests were made by Monroe police, while the fourth was booked by members of Troop F, Louisiana state police.

Monroe police have booked President Silas, Negro, 31, 506 North 9th street, Monroe; Vernon C. Tillman, 60, Route 2, Monroe; and Arthur D. Garvan, 31, 2721 South Grand street, Monroe.

Troopers of the state police booked Elmer Head, Negro, 47, Route 2, West Monroe.

MANY EARLY BIRDS

Republicans Pour Into Stockyards

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — Republicans surged into this huge stockyards arena today, eager to name Richard M. Nixon as the man they hope will keep the White House in GOP hands another four years. But first there were the seemingly endless preliminaries to be run off.

Today's opening ceremonies were almost exclusively devoted to routine business

Despite this, the delegates got here early. By 10 a.m., when the entertainment officially began, the floor was fairly crowded. In the galleries, as usual at these opening shows, only a smattering of spectators could be spotted.

Early birds could admire the decorations in this enormous place. Overhead Republican was spelled out in enormous letters on each side of the hall. Through the letters were suggestions of the spectacular age in which we live: A guided missile was taking off in the letter A, atoms were being split in B.

BARRING UPSET

At the rear three large portraits were a reminder of past GOP triumphs, plus a hope for the future.

In the center is Abraham Lincoln, who got the Republicans off to a flying star when he won their presidential nomination in this city 100 years ago.

On one side is a picture of Dwight D. Eisenhower, who wrested the White House from Democratic control eight years ago; on the other is Vice President Nixon, who, barring the most dramatic political upset of all time, will get the nomination here Wednesday night.

Incidentally, the Republicans, who have spent most of the past week saying they weren't going to have all this nonsense that they say the Democrats committed in Los Angeles, have everything timed to the minute.

A couple of samples:

Gene Archer was given exactly two minutes to belt out the national anthem.

Even the invocation had a time limit. The Most Rev. Raymond Hillinger, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, was allowed exactly three minutes.

Schoolboy Guest Orator; Calls For Patriotic Example

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP) — A Kansas schoolboy asked the Republican National Convention today to set "examples of patriotism" and to "put the interests of the United States above personal rewards."

Lanny C. Unruh, 17, of Newton, winner of an American Legion oratorical contest, was one of the guest speakers at the convention's opening session.

The young generation, Unruh told the delegates, views nominating conventions "with acute interest, for we carry ever in our minds the realization that in the not-too-distance future, the broadened responsibility of running our proud nation will fall upon our shoulders."

"My generation has no misgivings," he said. "We know that soon we will be called upon to defend our country. For some of us we may be called out to fight a tangible enemy with jets and missiles. But for all of us there are more sinister enemies that we must combat—apathy, divided loyalties and half-hearted allegiance to our party and to our Constitution."

Missing Man Report Filed

Local authorities have been notified that a 22-year-old Negro has been missing for three days. Sheriff Bailey Grant said today. The Negro was last seen Friday in the College Point area.

Sheriff Grant identified the man as Troy C. Owens, who is described as six feet, one inch tall, weighing 240 pounds. He was wearing light gray work pants and a white sleeveless shirt.

GOP Approves Unity Groupings

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Platform Committee today approved a plan to promote appropriate regional groupings of nations to foster economic and educatinal development in the free world.

The plan contained in the foreign policy plank substantially follows a proposal made jointly by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York that the United States encourage confederations of nations.

The plank completed by the platform group would encourage such groupings in somewhat different areas of the world than the Nixon-Rockefeller statement had advocated.

Police Believe Man, Unwilling Companion Fled

PORT GIBSON, Miss. (AP)—A grey-haired man and his unwilling woman companion, forced into his station wagon at the Port Gibson swimming pool, probably have fled the state, officers said today.

Objects of the widespread hunt were Mrs. Jimmie Louise Topping, an attractive 38-year-old Massachusetts woman clad in a blue bathing suit, and Frank J. Mullin, whom officers said forced her into the vehicle and sped away Saturday.

The station wagon bore Maine license plates and had a set of Massachusetts plates inside.

Deputy sheriff B. G. Rush said, "I assume Mullen has fled the state with her."

He said the highway patrol and FBI joined the Claiborne County officers in hunting for Mullen, who was described as dangerous.

Rush said a sister of Mrs. Topling reported she was a native of Port Gibson but had lived in Massachusetts with her husband since 1951. She was on a visit here.

Viewers In For 4 Days Of Convention

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They're off and running in the second half of TV's big summer sweepstakes—the political futurity.

The Republican National Convention starts in Chicago today, with the networks straining to give home viewers the big picture. Thus starts another week—four days for the economy-minded Republicans—of set-watching for those who are interested in the great game of politics.

Are too few interested? The TV ratings would indicate that. The total audience for the Democratic National Convention was considerably lower than expected, if we are to believe the surveys. But then, the surveys aren't infallible, as a fellow named Truman can tell you.

It's hard to imagine any alert American not wanting to switch on the set to see what the politicos are up to. For this is TV at its best—poking its Argus eye into the once smoke-filled but now air-conditioned rooms where the national destiny is shaped.

The networks got started on their week's labors Sunday night with some sideshow attractions to the main event. CBS took the folksy approach with Ed Murrow calling on Pat and Dick Nixon in the same way he chitchatted with celebrities on "Person to Person."

This time Ed was accompanied by fellow anchor man Walter Cronkite. Mrs. Nixon was asked if she were more thrilled over the prospects of seeing her two daughters in Chicago after a month's absence or watching her husband being nominated for president. She voted for the former.

The vice president was asked some pointed questions about his plans and policies and then the Nixon children were introduced with their grandmother at the airport en route from California to Chicago. One daughter was asked if she still wanted to be an actress. "I guess so," she replied reflectively.

At the same hour, NBC was taking the hard-news approach in an hour-long "Meet the Press." The network had a tandem team of Republicans, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York reading from right to left.

Both were handsome and articulate. Their response to questions can best be described in football terms. Goldwater was a line-plunger, Rockefeller an end-around man.

Nixon and Rockefeller also showed up on a pre-convention program on ABC. The vice president had an effective exchange with Edward P. Morgan, one of TV's best interviewers.

Although the main result seems pre-ordained, this week's affair may prove that the Grand Old Party can also put on as lively a scrap as the Democrats. The principal difference, as this observer sees it, is the switch in accents.

There will be less of the Southern and Bostonian tones, and more of the Midwestern plus the accentless Californian of Nixon. It will be interesting to note how many versions we will hear of "Chicago."

My favorite so far: Rockefeller's shu-cog-a.

Early Style Is Becoming Big Vogue

CHICAGO (UPI) — Young moderns are raiding attics, antique shops and early American furniture showrooms for kitchen furniture.

That's the word from A. L. Margolis, an Oshkosh, Wis., manufacturer of Early American furniture (Dearborn), who attributes the new taste for antiques in the kitchen to the growing importance of this room as a living area.

"The kitchen is again becoming a gathering place for talk, games and family living," he says. "Some architects are putting fireplaces in kitchens again, and many families are hanging paintings on kitchen walls."

Antique kitchen furnishings and decor fit into the new life of kitchens for several reasons, said Margolis.

First, the warm tones and comfortable lines of Grandma's furniture help make a kitchen inviting. "Early American and other traditional furniture is less severe than straight-lined modern, makes meals informal and encourages talk," he said. "An Early American kitchen looks cheerful even at breakfast."

Second, Margolis believes that the elimination of dining rooms in many modern homes and apartments leaves the kitchen as the backdrop for company as well as family meals, making it important for the kitchen to be attractive as well as utilitarian.

LBJ Thinks Congress Will Hue To Agenda

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate majority leader and Democratic vice-presidential candidate, says he does not believe Congress will be a sounding board for party platforms or a campaign stump to promote candidacies when it reconvenes Aug. 8.

He believes Congress will stick to its unfinished business and have a short, but productive session, the Texan told a news conference Sunday at his LBJ Ranch near here.

Republicans have been taunting the Democrats to enact laws putting their strong civil rights plank and other proposals adopted by the Democratic National Convention into effect during the upcoming session.

"A platform is drawn up for submission to the voters," Johnson said. "If the voters approve of it they will make their decision known in November and it is the duty of the party to carry out the decision in the following congresses."

He reaffirmed his support of the Democratic party platform, saying "I intend to run on the platform."

Johnson, who returned Saturday night from a vacation in Acapulco, Mexico, talked by phone with the presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

He announced that he has speaking engagements at Nashville, Tenn., July 30; at Montecello, Iowa, July 31; and will go to Oklahoma City Aug. 5 for festivities in connection with a new book published by Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma. He plans to go direct from Oklahoma City to Washington.

4 Parishes Pass Bond Averages

Four of the 12 parishes in district 6, which embraces the Monroe area, have exceeded both the state and national averages in the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds, Series E and H, during the first six months. Announcement of the purchases was made by C. E. Crossland, Jr., chairman for the district.

In addition, two other parishes were ahead of the state average, and within less than one per cent of the national average.

The four parishes, chairmen, and the per cent of goal achieved were: Caldwell, A. D. Bridger, 64 per cent; Lincoln, F. W. Jones, 51; Madison, W. P. Sevier, 50; and Tensas, J. C. Seaman, 55.

The two parishes which exceeded the state, but were just below the national percentage, 49.5, were Franklin, C. C. Nelson, chairman, 49; and Morehouse, W. E. Stevenson, also 49 per cent.

Free Gift Of "Bali" Glasses At Amoco Stations

Beautiful glasses made by the famous name of Libbey are being given free to motorists each time they fill up with 10 gallons or more at AMICO stations in Ouachita and Richland Parishes, it was announced by James W. Moore, vice president and general manager of Kellogg Oil Company, local distributor for AMOCO products.

The glasses are available in three sizes-the 5 oz. juice glasses, the 11 oz. beverage glasses and large 16 oz. iced tea glasses. Their design carries out an Hawaiian theme entitled "Bali". The outstanding quality in the glasses includes Libbey's famous Safe-Edge.

It makes no difference whether the purchase is for premium AMOCO, the unleaded gas, or for the best of the regulars-American Gas. However, the glasses will be given at time of purchase only and are not retroactive to previous purchases.

It is expected that thousands of these glasses will be distributed through this bonus process to motorists in Ouachita and Richland Parishes. (Adv.)

Farming 'Hobby' Is Productive

STANDING IN FIELD of towering corn is Albert Kilpatrick, whose farm is located in the corner of Cheniere Dam Road and Jonesboro Highway. (Farm Front Photo)

Fifty - seven - year - old Albert Kilpatrick works at a paper mill in West Monroe, and farms 68 acres of land "as a hobby".

The hobby is an extensive and productive one.

The farm, which is also the scene of his residence, a frame house, part of which is more than 100 years old, is located in the corner of Cheniere Dam Road and Jonesboro Highway.

Despite a long dry season, corn and an assortment of garden crops have thrived. He has four acres of field corn, tall green and sturdy, and well laden with ears.

Some hills have two to three stalks in them, with each stalk supporting two large ears.

WHERE IT FELL

"The corn is where it fell from the planter," said Kilpatrick.

Where seed fell as planned, stalks are located from 12 to 14 inches apart.

When Kilpatrick and his family moved to the farm four years ago, the land where the corn is now growing was a briar thicket.

"I thought I made good corn last year," he said, "but this year is even better."

The corn is a yellow variety, Funk's G-730. The soil is sandy.

As Kilpatrick surveyed the towering stalks of corn and the well-filled ears, he said, "I sure wish we had had more rain. It would help."

He and County Agent J. J. Joyce Jr., were agreed on the point that the corn had thrived despite dry weather, because of the high fertility of the soil which had a reserve of plant foot available.

The grain, which is grown as feed for his livestock, three Shetland ponies, seven horses, and 21 head of beef and dairy cattle, whiteface and Holstein, is well fertilized.

Annual fertilization of corn land has been at the rate of 300 pounds per acre of 6-12-6, and 250 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate.

CONTRAST

Kilpatrick pointed out that this year in corn production has been somewhat in contrast to last year, when heavy rains caused some of the corn to drown out. This year has been short on rain.

Land is broken with a tractor providing power, but the cultivation process is carried on by a reliable early means of motivation, a 24-year-old plow horse.

"I know he's 24 years old," said Kilpatrick, "and he may be more, because I know the man who raised him."

The aged horse is fed on a ration of ground corn.

Pastures are well - fertilized to help produce better grazing matter for livestock. Bermuda, crab and carpet grasses are the main varieties.

During the past crop year Kilpatrick has done all of the farm work himself, with the exception of hiring a man to help him for two days.

Products raised on his farm are sufficient to supply his main food needs, he said.

"I raise all of my food on the place," said Kilpatrick. "You don't catch me going to town to get any beef when I've got it in the pasture. I raise hogs to keep meat in the freezer at all times."

He said he took pork and beef to the locker plant for processing and curing.

TRUCK GARDEN

His truck garden covers about one acre, and contains cantaloupes, watermelons, peas, tomatoes, collards, butterbeans, and an assortment of other vegetables.

Sometimes he sells part of the yields, but said he raised the garden mostly for home use.

He also raises some corn and garden crops on land near his farm.

He grows some summer apples on his place, and has a young orchard of well - laden Elberta peaches. The trees were set out three years ago in March. This spring he said that blossoms seemed to be scattered on the trees, but later a great deal of fruit formed.

County Agent Joyce pointed out that in one section of corn there was an abundance of purple hull peas.

"That's something you don't see very often, anymore," he said.

The Kilpatricks have a married daughter.

Kilpatrick was raised on a farm near his present homesite. He and his family lived for awhile in West Monroe before moving back to the farm.

Their four - room home has one portion which is considerably older than the other. Two rooms are of pine log construction and are more than 100 years old, and are still in good condition.

The newer portion was constructed several years ago. The brick chimney of the fireplace was the original built when the log rooms were made, but the fireplace it now serves was installed after the Kilpatricks moved in.

PINE TREE FARMING is becoming an increasingly important agricultural element in Ouachita parish and other hill section areas. (Farm Front Photo)

Hot Weather Tips On Poultry Given

A seven-point program has been devised to help get laying flocks through peak warm weather periods in good condition. Miss Stella Jones, associate poultry specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, gave the program in this order:

Fresh water is important. Increasing the water level in the trough helps chickens cool themselves by wetting their wattles.

Use supplemental feeds such as pellets, wet mash, or milk products to keep birds eating.

LIGHTS

Provide lights and feed during the cool hours at night.

Spray water on the birds with a mist sprayer.

Protect chickens from the sun, particularly those at the edge of the house where late afternoon rays may hit.

Use reflective roofs. Dark roofs may be painted white or white - washed. Aluminum roofs reflect more heat if they are clean.

Disturb the birds as little as possible.

VIEWING AGRICULTURE

Weevil Buildups Low In Parish

By J. J. JOYCE JR.
Ouachita Parish County Agent

From the reports that we have received from commercial cotton checkers and the visits in the cotton fields, only a few fields reported a high percentage of weevils. Most of the fields have a very low percentage. This has been due to the extreme hot, dry weather that we have had. But don't let up on making the boll weevil cotton check regular, because with the showers we are having we could have a little build-up in the weevil. As you know, we do not recommend poisoning unless it is necessary.

TOO SMALL

Becauuse of the cold, wet, late spring and our recent dry conditions, cotton planted on certain types of soil has not grown off as it should. Much of this cotton has begun to fruit too small. According to Dr. Walter Peevey, the agronomist of LSU, most producers who have thhis condition could profit by an actual application of nitrogen as a sidedressing, if it is done immediately. Sidedressing cotton in this stage has paid off according to Doctor Peevy, with excellent results in the latter part of July.

This is done usually on cotton which has received less than 80 units of nitrogen early in the year. While we are speaking of cotton, we bought more cotton clothes in 1959 than ever before. This is a report of 40 different users of farm-grown fiber. This makes us feel good because the American people are turning to the use of cotton goods and this should keep us in the cotton business or might be able to increase our cotton acreage if this continues to improve.

FALL GARDEN

With the recent rains we have had, some of us should start thinking about a fall garden. As you complete harvesting your spring crops, clean off the green and dry vegetation and prepare a good seed bed. So the seed can be planted on a good firm bed do not turn under your green vegetation from your vegetables. This will cause a tremendous heat. Not only will it dry out your land but will kill the germination of your seed.

Some of the things that you can plant now are fall tomatoes, collards, and mustard. You can prepare your rows to plant along in September shallots and poll beans. Snap beans and poll lima beans can be planted the latter part of August, and bunch beans can be planted about two weeks later. Most of our root crops such as beets, carrots, irish potatoes, and turnips can be planted in the latter part of August. There is one thing to remember in preparing to plant a fall garden — that moisture is a limited factor and if you can be prepared to do a little irrigating you will insure yourself of a good fall garden.

REPORT

We have a report from feeder calf sales that have already been held. They report an excellent sale and we are figuring on having a better sale than we had last year. We would like to have you vaccinate all your heifers for bangs before they leave the farm. This will cut down on your shrinkage if we do not have to vaccinate them when they arrive for the sale. Every pound that you can save on these calves increases your net return that much more, and everything that you can do to help out this sale before they leave the farm means a few more dollars in your pocket. If you haven't had your calves vaccinated give us a ring or call Dr. B. B. Vail so that they can be vaccinated.

Cotton Contact Group To Meet At Baton Rouge

The Louisiana Cotton Contact Committee will hold its annual meeting at Louisiana State University, Wednesday, August 17, in conjunction with Farm and Home Week there.

This was announced by Paul Ransom of Monroe, Chairman of the committee, which is an industry - wide group formed to promote cotton in the state. The meeting will be held between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. in Himes Hall.

RESEARCHERS

LSU cotton research staff members will meet with the group. Business will include a survey of cotton research work under way at the university, a report on work of the contact committee during the past year, and a meeting of the committee's board of directors.

Farm and Home Week highlights will include a program on "Agricultural Chemicals and You." This will feature timely information on the use of chemicals in crop and livestock production, and a home economics program.

Conservation Highlights

Something new is being added to area farm ponds.

This was reported by S. R. Aycock, work unit conservationist with the Ouachita Parish Soil Conservation Service.

He said that in addition to blue gill bream and big mouth bass fingerlings, red ear bream are now being included for stocking farm ponds.

The fish are provided through the Federal Fish Hatchery at Natchitoches.

The conservationist said that the addition of the red ear was to help provide a better balance of fish life in the ponds, which are used for many purposes besides fishing. The most vital role of the farm pond is that of supplying water for livestock, he reminded.

DELICIOUS

Aycock said that besides being beautiful fish, the red ear bream are delicious food.

On the matter of farm ponds, the conservationist reminded that the dry spring and early summer brought on a rush of construction of reservoirs.

Some of the ponds were built in soil that for two years previous had been too wet to allow working.

Another point in the increase in the tempo of pond building is the increasing emphasis which farmers are placing on conservation of water resources.

This indicates a moving away from the old conception of taking water resources for granted. When fields and pastures are parched and livestock water low, the vital role of water on the farm, as elsewhere, becomes apparent.

Lightning Rod Reliance Said Well-Grounded

"Science has found that the old timers' faith in lightning rods was well - grounded as long as the rod itself was well - grounded."

Kenneth Koch, associate engineer with the Agricultural Extension Service, made this statement in a report to J. J. Joyce Jr., Ouachita Parish county agent.

Koch said for a long time the lightning rod salesman was thought of by many people as ranking with the peddler of cure-all snake oil.

'CHANGED'

"However," he added, "times have changed and lightning rods are coming back into use because safety men have found that they are in many cases a good form of insurance. Especially benefitted is the farmer whose farm buildings and livestock may be damaged or destroyed by lightning."

In addition to protecting a farm home, Koch suggested, lightning rods installed in the tops of trees under which livestock normally take shelter, can be worthwhile. A single lightning bolt can kill several animals standing under a tree.

He added:

"Also if a wire fence is properly grounded at regular intervals, there will be much less danger of lightning flash killing animals which may be standing alongside the fence during a storm."

The associate engineer said that while humans cannot wear lightning rods they should avoid being caught in an open field, or on a hilltop or under an isolated tree during a thunderstorm. Lightning is most likely to strike the highest object in the area.

Safety Is Vital In Recreation In Vicinity Of Ponds

A problem which is becoming increasingly important to rural residents is in the area af recreation in and around farm ponds.

Ouachita Parish County Agent J. J. Joyce Jr. said, "It is the responsibility of every farm pond owner to make his pond safe."

He added:

"It is not necessarily advisable to have recreation in and around the farm pond, but if it is done it is important that all safety precautions be taken.

"Recreation around the pond must be supervised at all times by an adult. Never swim alone, fish alone, boat alone, skate alone, or play around the pond alone. Remember, to enjoy farm life, practice safety!"

IN LOUISIANA

Outlook For Crop Production Drops

The outlook for total crop production in the state this year is about six per cent less than that of last year. This was announced by the Louisiana Crop Reporting Service on the basis of information available around the first of July.

Last year's production was about equal to the 1949-58 average, the service said. Leading the downturn from last year are corn, oats, hay and sweet potatoes.

Corn, oats and sweet potato acreages are considerably smaller than last year while prospective yields of corn, sweet potatoes and hay are moderately to sharply below those last year.

NEAR

Rice prospects are almost up to the 1959 levels while a somewhat larger sugar cane crop is indicated.

The acreage of principal crops to be harvested in the state this year is estimated at a little more than 2½ - million acres, about 1.6 per cent or 41,000 acres less than in 1959.

Reductions in acreages of corn, oats, sorghums, sweet potatoes and hay were partially offset by slight to moderate increases in cotton, wheat, rice, sugar cane and soybeans.

Indicated yields of most crops are down from last year owing to effects of the late spring and unusually dry weather during most of May and June.

Acreage of cotton planted in the state this year is estimated at 520,000 acres, slightly above the 517,000 planted last year.

Corn production is forecast at 14,460,000 bushels, 17 per cent below last year, but only one per cent below average.

The rice crop is estimated at 12,824,000 equivalent 100 - pound bags (7,916,000 barrels) slightly below last year and four per cent above averoge.

FORECAST

Sugar cane for sugar and seed is forecast at 5,863,000 tons, six per cent above a year ago and four per cent above average.

A sweet potato yield of 3,250,000 hundredweight (5,909,000 bushels), 35 per cent below last year and 33 per cent below average, is expected.

A peach crop of 165,000 bushels is estimated for the state, around three per cent above last year, and more than double the 1949-58 average.

Condition of pasture feed on July 1 averaged 52 per cent of normal, 36 points below last year and 24 points below average.

Milk production per cow in herds kept by crop reporters averaged 9.9 pounds compared with 8.5 pounds a year ago, and the average of 7.9 pounds.

Egg production during June was estimated at 29 million eggs, the same as last year. The laying rate was somewhat below June a year ago, but there were about five per cent more layers on farms.

Decline In Chick Starting Reported Around Louisiana

The number of broiler chicks started in the state during the week of July 3-9, was less than that of the previous week, it was announced by the Louisiana Crop Reporting Service.

Broiler growers started 449,000 chicks during that week, compared to 556,000 placed the preceding week and 397,000 the corresponding week of 1959.

Inshipments of broiler chicks totaled 38,000, compared with 130,000 the preceding week.

REPORTED

Louisiana hatcherymen reported 517,000 eggs set for broilers during the week, compared with 613,000 the preceding week and 700,000 the corresponding week a year ago.

Placements in 22 reporting states totaled 36,547,000 broiler chicks during the week, while there were 37,449,000 a week earlier and 33,667,000 the corresponding week in 1959.

why do users of TOXAPHENE-DDT (2:1 MIX) make more money?

There are REASONS why cotton farmers using the 2:1 mix of toxaphene-DDT make more money from their acreage:

- Toxaphene-DDT kills all kinds of weevils —resistant as well as non-resistant.
- It's the best bollworm poison.
- Toxaphene-DDT is long lasting . . . keeps killing cotton insect pests days after other materials have lost their effectiveness.
- The 2:1 mix is highly effective against a wide variety of cotton insect pests, including plant bugs, fleahoppers, leafworms, and others.

You too can make more profit by using toxaphene-DDT as the basis for your late-season cotton insect control program.

Braves Move Into League Lead With Sweep Over Cubs

Chisox Split With Yankees To Hold Lead

By GARY KALE
United Press International

It may have felt like a century for the Milwaukee Braves since they occupied first place in the National League, but calendar-wise it was exactly 103 days.

On April 12, Milwaukee won the season opener along with three other clubs. That was the last time the Braves occupied the top rung until Sunday's 7-5, 1-0 doubleheader sweep over the Chicago Cubs.

Milwaukee never fell more than three games off the pace until May 13. The Braves then reached their lowest mark May 31 when they were 6½ games back. But on June 16, they started their surge that brought nine victories in 10 games and possession of first place by two percentage points over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

San Francisco ousted the Pirates from the lead for the first time since May 29 with a 6-3 victory, Los Angeles shut out Phila-, delphia for the third straight time, 9-0, and St. Louis edged Cincinnati, 6-5, in other National League games.

In the American League, Chicago maintained its game lead by splitting with New York, winning the first, 6-3, and dropping the nightcap, 8-2; Boston took a pair from Cleveland, 10-5 and 7-6; Kansas City beat Washington in the opener, 6-2, but lost the second game, 10-2, and Baltimore defeated Detroit, 2-1, in 11 innings.

SPAHN WINS ELEVENTH

Joe Adcock drove in three runs with his 17th homer of the season and a double to give Warren Spahn his 11th victory in the opener against the Cubs. Johnny Logan chipped in with a two-run homer and Del Crandall had three hits to aid Spahn, who had to weather a late Chicago uprising when he served home run pitches to Frank Thomas and rookie Ron Santo.

Al Dark's pinch single in the ninth inning provided the only run of the second game. Dark's hit drove in Al Spangler, who ran for Mel Roach after the Milwaukee outfielder had doubled. Buhl's win was his 10th of the year.

San Francisco built an early 6-0 lead on homers by Willie Mays and Bob Schmidt, but then had to relieve starter Billy O'Dell with Johnny Antonelli, Billy Loes and Mike McCormick as the Pirates staged a three-run rally in the ninth inning. McCormick struck out two pinch-hitters to preserve O'Dell's fifth win.

EXTRA-BASE SPECIAL

The Dodgers exploded for five extra-base hits, including Stan Williams' homer, to score eight runs in the third inning. Jim Gilliam, Duke Snider, Maury Wills and Joe Pignatano contributed doubles to the rally as Williams ran his record to 10-2 for the season. John Buzhardt was tagged with his seventh defeat.

Daryl Spencer, Joe Cunningham and Stan Musial homered for the Cards, but it was Bill White's ninth inning double that drove in the winning run to give St. Louis a three-game sweep of the series. Frank Robinson and Gordy Coleman, who had just reported from Seattle, homered for Cincinnati. Bob Gibson pitched the last 1 2-3 innings and won his second game.

Nellie Fox collected his 2,000 hit and Roy Sievers belted his 16th homer to pace Chicago's first game win over the Yankees. The Yankees broke Chicago's eight-game winning streak in the nightcap by blasting southpaw Herb Score and three White Sox relievers for 13 hits. Mickey Mantle smashed his 24th homer for New York.

FIVE-ERROR INNING

Boston dropped Cleveland 3½ games off the pace, although outhit in both games. The Red Sox scored eight runs in the first two innings of the opening contest with the help of Gary Geiger's homer, Russ Nixon's triple and Vic Wertz' two-run single. Tito Francona homered for the Indians. A two-run homer by Frank Malzone in the first inning of the nightcap gave the Red Sox a cushion they never lost.

The A's scored all their runs in the seventh inning of the opener as shortstop Jose Valdivielso committed three of five Washington errors in the frame. Ray Herbert had a no-hitter stopped by Lenny Green's seventh inning single but went on to win his fifth game. Washington raked five K.C. pitchers for 16 hits in the nightcap, including a triple and homer by Julio Becquer.

Baltimore beat Detroit when Jackie Brandt drove in Billy Klaus in the 11th inning with his fourth hit of the game. He knocked in the other Orioles run with a double. Chuck Estrada went all the way for Baltimore, posting a five-hitter.

TAKES PGA CROWN

Hebert Blasts Palmer's Hopes For Triple Crown

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — The smiling guy they said could never win a big one had the last laugh today.

Jay Hebert, who proved his class and his courage long ago at a tiny Pacific atoll called Iwo Jima, did it again on the treacherous slopes of Firestone Country Club to win the coveted PGS golf championship.

He did it the hard way too, to wipe out forever the whispers that in the golfing clutch he would never be a fairway also ran.

Jay Hebert had won a few here and there. But none of them were the classic "big ones." the king which write the pro golfers' names in the record books in big, bold letters.

Not until Sunday.

Then, with gameness and an ability which never again will be questioned, he fought his way through two tense holes which told the whole story of the tournament and broke Jim Ferrier's heart, sent Sam Snead skidding out of a shot at his 106th tournament triumph and blasted Arnold Palmer's dreams of a "triple crown" slam. Two holes and they told it all.

FOUR IN RUNNING

There were four of them running at it—Ferrier and Snead in the next to last threesome and Hebert and Doug Sanders in the final threesome.

Snead birdied the man-killing 16th hole, the backbreaker of the tournament, a 625-yard, par-five monster.

Ferrier, watching slit-eyed, as Sam blew it, stepped up and knocked in his par on that final hole for a 35-36—71. That put him at 282, one shot ahead of Snead and with the other pair two holes from home.

Standing on the 17th tee, both Hebert and Sanders needed a pair of pars each for a tie. Doug, observing his 27th birthday, was to lose his chance with a bogey on the final hole which gave him a 36-36—73 for a 283 which tied him with Snead.

But by then Hebert had taken it out of his hand and Ferrier's too.

For Jay, the man they said couldn't do it, laced his tee shot straight up the middle on the 17th and then whipped a five iron eight feet from the flag on that 390-yard, par-four hole. Calmly he stepped up and knocked it home for the birdie which put him on the front end—and left him needing a par for victory.

ADMITS BEING NERVOUS

"Sure, you get kind of nervous maybe with a difference of $11,000 for first place and only $5,500 for second," Jay grinned later, "but I have parred that 18th every time and I wasn't fixin' to let it get away now."

He didn't.

Jay slammed that drive right down the middle and then whipped that trusty five iron out of the bag one last time. The ball sailed straight to the green, although it rolled perilously close to a trap yawning on the far side, and it stopped some 20 feet from the pin.

Jay slid it up "right close"—a matter of 10 inches—and then nonchalantly tapped it in for a closing, even-par 35-35—70 over that arduous 7,165-yard course for a winning total of 281.

'TEAM FALLING APART'

Indians All Upset Over Jim Piersall

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are on the warpath, and the object of their ire is teammate Jimmy Piersall, the excitable center fielder.

Piersall stayed behind in Boston today for an appearance before American League President Joe Cronin while the rest of the squad packed their war clubs and set off for New York, where they open a four-game series against the Yankees Tuesday night.

Team members said they may send a committee to General Manager Frank Lane when he joins the club and will demand that he take definite action to curb Piersall's antics.

One irate player told a reporter the team is on the verge of a revolt, adding that "Lane has got to do something or the entire team will fall apart."

A veteran Tribesman said the Indians "still have a good chance to win the pennant, but not Piersall remains.

They got a lot of rough decisions from umpires in the Boston series. They lean over backward when Piersall is concerned but take it out on the rest of the players."

Members of the team said they thought the fines that have been levied on Piersall will have little effect and that neither Cronin nor Lane will take any action unless the team issues an ultimatum.

"They talk about the $350 he (Piersall) has paid in fines this season," said one player. "That's a big joke. He will make far more than that making personal appearnces. But we aren't going to make any extra money unless we win the pennant."

Cronin called Piersall on the carpet to explain his antics and umpire-baiting tactics.

"Sure I'm going," Jim said Sunday after receiving Cronin's telegram ordering him to the conference in the American League office today. "I've got to go. It's an order."

"I'm just going to speak my mind," Jim said. "I've got a lot to tell him."

Cronin, in an unusual move, also told Pirsall to bring his wife, Mary, to the session. But on that angle, Piersall balked.

"That's utterly ridiculous," he snorted. "I'm not going to take her. She's pregnant and not feeling well. She's upset about this whole thing and I'm just not going to do it."

She is regarded by close friends of the family as a steadying, soothing influence on Piersall, who once spent some time in the violent room of a suburban Boston hospital.

Piersall, who was fined $100 by Cronin for his actions in Saturday's game with Boston, faces possible drastic disciplinary action. Cronin has the authority to suspend him indefinitely.

"They all think I'm nuts," Piersall said. "I'm just high-strung."

Then he turned to umpires.

"They give me a lot of bad calls, and they give the team a lot of bad calls. They're hurting the team. I wonder if they are doing it to me to get at the team, or if they're doing it to the team to get at me? I wonder what their point is?"

The fine was levied for actions during a violent, red-necked argument between Piersall and umpire Ed Hurley in Saturday's game. Cronin watched it on television.

Jim was thumbed out of that game, along with two other Indians and Manager Joe Gordon. Gordon and two others also got the heave during Sunday's doubleheader, for a variety of protests.

Piersall escaped banishment Sunday, but had a part in the proceedings, alternately jeering and chatting with fans, haranging umpires and squatting cross-legged behind the flagpole in centerfield.

He has had a running fight with umpires all season and his antics have been the talk of the league. Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane ordered him to take a rest earlier this season.

Hurley, the object of some of Piersall's taunts, was disgusted with the whole affair.

"I feel like quitting," the umpire said. "They pay that guy $32,500 a year. And how much do I get for taking his abuse?"

SPORTS BLANK MEMPHIS

Atlanta Takes 3-1 Battle From Bears

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Little Rock might be leading the Southern Assn. today except for the Travelers' lack of ability to beat either left-handed pitchers or the Nashville Vols.

A combination of the two hexes prevented Little Rock from sweeping a doubleheader from the Vols yesterday. Lefty Jim Bailey blanked the Travs on four hits as Nashville gained a split 6-0 after Little Rock won its first home game of the season from the Vols in the 9-6 opener.

The third-place Travelers have won only three of their last 14 games against lefties.

The split left Little Rock 5½ games behind league leading Atlanta and 1½ lengths back of second-place Birmingham as the league paused for the annual All-Star interlude. No games are scheduled tonight, eve of Tuesday's 22nd All-Star extravanza in Atlanta.

Birmingham swept a doubleheader from Chattanooga 8-0 and 6-3 and picked up a half-game on Atlanta which beat Mobile 3-1. Shreveport topped Memphis 2-0 on home runs by Bob Boak and Al Grunwald.

Nashville's onesided edge on Little Rock is exceeded only by Birmingham's ability to thrash the hapless Chattanooga Lookouts. The Sunday sweep left the Barons with a 13-2 record against the cellar club.

Rookie Alan Koch hurled his fourth victory for Birmingham and second shutout in the opener. Bob Dustal hurled a five-hitter for the victory in the nightcap.

A single by Bill Jajoie delivered Doug Camilli in the second inning with the first Atlanta run, and Larry Burright's homer followed for the two clinching runs off Mobile left-handed Bob Allen.

Al Pifister hurled a six-hitter for his fifth victory in seven decisions for Shreveport. Veteran Bob Milliken, going for his eighth victory, had to settle for his eighth setback when Boak homered in the fifth inning and Grunwald did the same in the seventh.

The doubleheader at Little Rock attracted 2,184 fans. Only 333 showed up at Memphis, 427 at Mobile and 885 at Chattanooga.

Doctor Aims At Record In Broad Jump

BERLIN (AP)—Manfred Steinbach has two ambitions—he wants to be a successful doctor and he wants to be the man who cracks Jesse Owens' world broad jump record.

In the latter category, he threw down the gauntlet today to America's Ralph Boston, another 26-foot-plus jumper who has similar ideas.

"I feel confident I can do it," the 26-year-old veteran Olympian from Wolfsburg said today after having a record jump of 8.14 meters (26 feet, 8.63 inches) nullified by a technicality. There was a 3.2 meter per second following wind. The rules permit only a wind up to 2 meters (6 feet, 6.75 inches) a second.

"It's just a matter of time. Maybe in the meet with the East Germans early in August. Maybe in the Olympics. Maybe afterward. Who can say? I think I can do it," said the doctor.

Steinbach gave the track world a jolt at Olympic Stadium Sunday when he leaped farther than any man had ever gone before in the long jump. His feat bettered by one centimeter (0.39 of an inch) the long-standing record of 8.13 meters (26 feet, 8¼ inches) set by the great Owens on that unforgettable day at Ann Arbor, Mich., May 25, 1935.

Steinbach said he would welcome a duel with Boston in the Olympic Games at Rome.

"I don't think of the record or the competition when I am on the runaway," he said. "I try to concentrate and build up all my power into one big effort."

Boston, winner of the U. S. Olympic trials at Palo Alto, Calif., earlier this month, three times went over 26 feet and finally won with a jump of 26-6½.

Southside Meets Winnsboro For District Battle

WINNSBORO, La. (Special) — The district Little Boys Baseball playoff will get underway here Tuesday night at 7:30 with Southside of West Monroe meeting Winnsboro in the first game of a best-of-three series.

The second game in the series will be played Wednesday night in West Monroe with the site and date of the third game, if necessary, to be decided later by a flip of a coin.

Winnsboro won the sub-district tournament here last week while Southside won the Delhi sub-district meet.

RICHEST WEEK

Sunset Handicap Marks Start Of Big Racing Card

By JOHN CHANDLER

Eleven older horses were lined up today for the $100,000-added Sunset Handicap marking the close of the Hollywood Park season, but the big money race is only the beginning of the richest week in the history of the thoroughbred sport.

On Saturday, for the first time, there will be four $100,000-plus races with total purses worth half a million dollars. Here's the weekend program:

Delaware Park — the $150,000 estimated Delaware Handicap, 1¼ miles for fillies and mares.

Aqueduct — the $100,000-added Brooklyn Handicap, 1¼ miles.

Arlington Park — the $100,000-added Arlington Futurity, 2-year-olds, 6 furlongs.

Monmouth Park — the $100,000-guaranteed gross Sorority Stakes, 2-year-old fillies, 6 furlongs.

C. V. Whitney's Dotted Swiss, 4-year-old son of Counterpoint, heads the field in the Sunset over the tough mile and five-eights route. Dotted Swiss, winner of four straight including the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, gets 120 pounds this time. That's 13 more than he carried in the Gold Cup.

The top weight with 122 pounds is Howard B. Keck's Bagdad, beaten four lengths in the Gold Cup with the same package at a mile and a quarter.

Eddie Burns rides Dotted Swiss, while Willie Shoemaker handles Bagdad. Shoemaker won the Sunset in 1956 with Swaps, and in 1958 with Gallant Man.

Another item of note in the California race is the presence of Alfred Vanderbilt's 10-year-old Find, in with 108 pounds. Find won the race in 1957, netting $66,000. The 1960 winner will collect a record $67,100 if all start.

The Brooklyn may see a renewal of the big three battle between the Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle, and C. T. Chenery's First Landing. Weights for the race were to be announced today. First Landing, beaten in the Suburban by Sword Dancer, won the Monmouth Handicap July 16. Bald Eagle, fourth in the Suburban, and Sword Dancer have been idle since then.

The Delaware Handicap, the world's richest race for fillies and mares, will be a supreme test for Bill MacDonald's Royal Native under 129 pounds. Royal Native is the leading contender for championship honors in her division.

At Monmouth, the Meadowbrook Stable's Little Tumbler—one of the fastest juvenile fillies to be seen in years—will be favored in the Sorority.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Herff's Intensive, who won the recent Hyde Park Stakes in Chicago, is the probable choice for the Arlington Futurity.

Reginald N. Webster's Quill, champion 2-year-old miss in 1958, qualified handsomely for the Delaware Handicap by beating Indian Maid and Tempted in the $35,800 New Castle Handicap Saturday at the Delaware track. Tempted was the champion last year.

C. R McCoy's T.V. Lark, 1959 winner of the $212,000 Arlington Futurity over Bally Ache, went back to the same track Saturday and copped the $135,600 Arlington Classic. John William ran second, while the favored Venetian Way—hero of the Kentucky Derby—was third. T.V. Lark collected $86,500 for his California owner and paid $35.40.

Pappa's All, owned by Grover King, captured the $143,200 Hollywood Juvenile Championship for 2-year-olds. He paid $7 and earned $97,100, as Sullivan's Bud was second, with Big Smoky third. Previously unbeaten Olden Times finished fifth.

Personal groom for Bally Ache, the probable 3 - year - old champion of 1960, is Bud Biggerstaff.

OVERCOMES HANDICAP

Blind Golf Champ Takes 11th Title

By JACK STILLMAN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Charlie Boswell, the perennial national blind golf champion, is a phenomenally successful man whose accomplishments put his handicap in the shade.

Boswell won his 11th national title at Bar Harbor, Me., last Saturday. He has missed wining the championship but once since the tournament was organized.

Boswell was blinded in the Battle of the Bulge during World War II. But the loss of his sight never deterred him from the road to success.

His energy is directed into his insurance business, his church and civic interests. And he is an inspiration to young people, who look at him not as a man who has overcome a great handicap, but one who can guide them over some of life's hazards.

Returning from the war, he operated a sporting goods department in a Birmingham store but resigned when he found he couid go no higher than head of the department.

His next venture was a shoe store. But he sold this because he saw no romance in selling shoes.

Three years ago, when he was 40, he started over again. This time it was an insurance agency which since has become a successful business. He likes it because this type of business is closely associated with people.

Charlie likes people. He especially likes young people. He spends a great deal of time at the crippled children's hospital at Birmingham.

Here he might be found on a Sunday afternoon, chatting with a high school boy who suddenly found life darkening because of polio, or some other affliction.

Charlie tells the boy about the days when he played halfback on the University of Alabama football team before the war. Charlie was an outstanding athlete. He likes sports, and he talks the boy's language.

He always is available to talk to a group of Boy Scouts or to speak at a Little League banquet.

He is man whose faith in himself is so evident to others.

When he took up golf he found it a natural game for the blind. He said a blind man has an advantage, in one respect.

"You don't have to keep your eye on the ball."

But this is a little misleading, because his mind's eye controls his putting. And his drives average between 220 and 240 yards.

He usually shoots about 100, but his best score is 83.

He plays with a coach, usually a close friend, who lines up his shots. And when Charlie swings his club, he knows he will hit the ball.

Hazards on a golf course don't bother him. That's one way he helps handicapped children. He shows them that to be happy and successful, you simply have to look beyond life's hazards.

Recently his wife, Kitty, was called on to round up Charlie's accomplishments for a national television program.

"It was really hard, without Charlie's help," she said. "I suppose he is the only person who really knows all that he does."

MacKay Leads United States Tennis Squad

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Barry MacKay, at the peak of his game after impressively winning the National Clay Courts tennis title, Monday headed the U. S. Davis Cup team toward Mexico City.

The four-man squad of MacKay, Berbard (Tut) Bartzen, Chuck McKinley and Earl Buchholz, are to arrive in the Mexican capital tonight.

They will have nearly two weeks to get acclimated to the high altitude before opening the second round of American Zone Davis Cup competition.

The U. S. team trimmed Canada in the first round before arriving at the River Forest Tennis Club here, where the 24-year-old MacKay never was sharper in hammering down the mechanical Bartzen Sunday 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-0 in the finals.

Bartzen, 32, noted as the best clay courts player around, was deprived of his third-straight national clay courts title by the heavy-hitting MacKay, who scored 13 service aces in the hour and 33 minute match.

In closing out with love-set, the 6-foot-4-inch MacKay had four aces and twice broke Bartzen's service in demolishing his opponent in 15 minutes.

"That last set was the best I ever played on clay, especially against an opponent like Bartzen," said Mackay. "All of us now are anxious to get to Mexico City and begin practice. The ball floats in that altitude and is harder to control."

Like the Canadian series, the second round in Mexico City also will be on clay.

Bartzen, a 5-8 southpaw, described MacKay as "a big fellow with a big game — when you face a windmill like that, everybody else looks small."

The women's title went to 35-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode for the fourth time. The 1951, 1958 champion defeated 19-year-old Gwyn Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio. 6-3, 6-3.

The Australian duo of Bob Hewitt and Marty Mulligan captured the doubles championship by downing Martin Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., and Ramsey Earnhart, Ventura, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 11-13, 6-4.

Griffith Takes On Fernandez In Return Go

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emile Griffith and Jorge Fernandez clash in a return bout tonight that figures to be almost as close as their first thriller.

Griffith, the 22-year-old boxer-puncher from New York, was awarded a split decision over the rallying Argentine at New York's St. Nicholas Arena last June 3. Some of the irate spectators in the smoky old arena tossed chairs and other objects into the ring in protest of the decision.

This time the two welterweights will battle in plush, well-policed Madison Square Garden.

The ten-rounder won't be televised. There won't be a television fight at all this week. The Wednesday night fight time this week will be used to cover the action at the Republican Convention in Chicago.

Miami Beach, Fla., has a top pairing for Tuesday night. Kenny Lane, the lightweight and junior welter contender from Muskegon, Mich., takes on lightweight contender Doug Vaillant of Cuba in a 10-rounder.

Heavyweight on the low end of the ranking ladder are featured Wednesday night at Montreal and Porthcawl, Wales.

At Montreal, Canadian hopeful Bob Cleroux gets his big test against Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex. Across the Atlantic, Lanky Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N. Y., faces Welshman Dick Richardson in a return bout at Porthcawl. DeJohn whipped Richardson in a 10-rounder at London Last Dec. 1.

Trainer Jimmy Pitt has a pet name for Bally Ache, the Kentucky Derby winner. He calls the colt Bright Eyes.

MERCER'S 1-HITTER

Ruston In 8-0 Win Over Vols

Ruston pushed its La-Ark League lead to 3½ games yesterday afternoon with an 8-0 win over West Monroe's Vols. J. W. Mercer lost a no-hitter and a perfect game in the last inning.

Righthander Mercer didn't allow a baserunner until the bottom of the seventh when with one out, Vol outfielder Robert Perkins chopped one of Mercer's offerings out in front of the plate. The ball took a high, slow bounce high over Mercer's head. Second baseman Dickie Hinton charged the ball and tried for a quick pickup and missed. The speedy Perkins was nearly to first before Hinton reached the ball and the blow went as a hit.

Monroe mauled Bastrop, 17-3, and Dubach downed Sterlington, 8-4, in the league's other games yesterday.

Mercer had more troubles in the seventh, as Perkins went on around to third when Hinton booted James Mock's grounder after Shelby Aulds' flied out but Tufiy Antley grounded into a force play on Mock to end the game.

But for six innings Mercer had been magnificent. The Vols, who beat the righthander twice earlier this season, didn't come close to a base hit, seven of them going down on strikes.

George Fruge started and lost for West Monroe, giving up seven hits and five runs. Manager Earl Esters relieved Fruge in the fourth and gave up the back-to-back homers by McNabb and Zaffater in the seventh.

Six World Marks Fall In AAU Meet

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A weekend of record shattering performances that stunned even the most optimistic of the experts has buoyed the United States' Olympic swimming hopes.

Six world records fell during the AAU men's national outdoor swimming and diving championships. American and meet standards were toppled in all 14 senior swimming events.

"It's unbelievable," said Gus Stager, the youthful University of Michigan coach who will lead the U. S. Swimmers into Olympic competition in Rome later this summer.

"I don't think I've been at all pessimistic," said Stager, "But I kept thinking how much progress the swimmers in other countries have made. Now I know that our country has come along at a truly fantastic pace.

"Up to now I thought we were placing the tress on the wrong things — the idea of being the best in our own country. It's apparent now that the officials, the coaches and especially the swimmers are determined to be the best in the world."

The Olympic swimming team will be selected during trials in Detroit Aug. 2-5.

Some 350 swimmers and divers competed in the AAU meet at Scott Park Pool. The platform diving competition Sunday was moved into Brennen Pools in Detroit, site of the Olympic trials.

Here are the world records set in the AAU meet:

400-meter individual Medley 5:04.5 by Dennis Rounsavelle, a junior at the University of Southern California.

200-meter butterfly, 2:13.4, by Mike Troy, a 19-year-old NCAA champion from Indiana University.

800-meter freestyle relay, 8:17.0 by the Indianapolis Athletic Club team of Pete Sintz, George Breen, Alan Somers, and Troy.

200-meter backstroke, 2:16.0, by Tom Stock, a freshman-to-be at Indiana.

100-meter butterfly, 0:58.7, by Lance Larson, a University of Southern California swimmer.

400-meter medley relay, 4:09.2, by Lance Larson, a University of Southern California swimmer.

400-meter medley relay, 4:09.2, by the Indianapolis athletic club team of Frank McKinney, Chet Jastremski, Sintz and Troy.

Stock, a recent graduate from Bloomington, Ill., high school, and 23-year-old Jeff Farrell, just mustered out of the Navy, were double winners.

In addition to his world record in the 200-meter backstroke, Stock won the 100-meter backstroke in American record time. Farrell won the 100 and 200-meter freestyles, setting American records in both.

Indianapolis AC won the team trophy with 107 points to 72 for runner up Los Angeles AC. Somers and Larson tied for individual point honors with 17 points each.

George Lambert Wins National Pentathlon Title

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The United States pentathlon combination for the Olympic Games will be Lt. George Lambert of Sioux City, Iowa; Navy Lt. Robert L. Beck of Philadelphia; Lt. Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont., and Cpl. Dick Stoll of Minneapolis.

Lambert, Beck and Daniels became the three team members by finishing 1-2-3 in the pentathlon trials Sunday while Stoll became the alternate by winding up fourth.

Lambert, who was on the team in 1956 and finished fifth at Melbourne, won the trials and the national title by scoring 4,745 points in the five events—fencing, pistol shooting, 300 - meter freestyle swimming, 4,000 - cross country running and horse-back riding.

WITH BROTHER LIONEL

PGA Win Gives Jay Even Score

By OSCAR FRALEY

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—It took 23 years, but Jay Hebert finally was even with his "baby" brother, Lionel, today.

Lionel has "had it on" Jay that long.

Ever since the day when 14-year-old Jay was milking the cows in the barn on their home in the Louisiana bayou country and Lionel broke his favorite—and only—golf club.

Then, to make matters worse, three years ago the kid brother went out and won the PGA golf championship. Jay was in the shade again.

"It seems like it's always been that way," Jay grinned.

"Up to now."

Lionel was a pudgy 9-year-old the day he got the jump on the 14-year-old Jay. The big brother had saved his nickels and bought a battered old driver to play over a scraggly local golf course.

WARNS KID BROTHER

"I leaned the driver against the barn door while I milked the cows," Jay recalls with a grin. "Lionel came along and picked it up and started swinging it at rocks in the yard."

Jay was fearful that little Lionel would break the club.

"Put that thing down and fetch me another bucket," he snapped.

"Don't bother me," said Lionel. "I'm practicin.'"

"You put that down or I'll fetch you one," Jay ordered.

Lionel ignored him and continued swinging at rocks. Exasperated, Jay jumped up and made for him.

"You come one step closer," Lionel piped threateningly as he poised the club against the corner of the barn, "and I'll bust this old club."

Jay advanced—and Lionel walloped the club against the barn and broke the shaft.

"To make it worse," laughs Jay at the memory," they had a caddy tournament a short time later and what do you think happened? That little old Lionel won it, and him only nine years old."

WHISKEY FIRST PRIZE

There is a story that goes with that, too. First prize in the caddy tournament was, by some strange freak of donational fate, a quart of whiskey. The older caddies collected it — and drank it. The Heberts were shut out.

They both eventually succumbed to that boyhood love of golf and became golf professionals. Lionel, still on the pudgy side, was the first to hit the big jackpot when he won the PGA in 1957 at Dayton.

Jay's career had been slowed by a hitch in the Marines and a leg wound suffered at Iwo Jima. The handsome, blue-eyed Cajun did become a steady money winner on the pro circuit but, they said, he was too easy-going to ever win a major championship.

It seemed, from time to time, as if they were right, but Jay put all those theories to rest Sunday when he birdied the 17th hole in the coveted PGA golf championship and roared on home with a par to capture the long-awaited big one.

Yet, to Jay, it meant much more than that.

Because, at long last, he had evened things up with his kid brother.

Dodgers Use Pitching To Spark Climb

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, practically written off as one-year wonders a couple of months back, are actually not much worse off today than they were at this time a year ago.

The Dodgers have moved eight games closer to first place in the last month. And today — after scoring three straight shutouts over Philadelphia — they're just four games back of league-leading Milwaukee. On the morning of July 25 last year, they were 2½ games out.

As it was in 1959, when the Dodgers came on to win the pennant, pitching has been the primary agent in their recent ride up from the second division.

In their last 12 games at the Coliseum, Dodger pitchers have scored five shutouts, only three fewer than they managed here all last season.

In their last 29 innings, Dodger pitchers haven't allowed a run. Twenty-seven of these innings, of course, were against the Phillies, a consideration that may lend something less than heroic stature to the accomplishment. The Phils haven't scored in 33 innings.

Don Drysdale opened the Philadelphia series with a four-hit shutout and Roger Craig followed with a three-hitter, Sunday, when the Dodgers picked up their 13th victory in 16 games by demolishing the Phils 9-0. Stan Williams was a little less spectacular than his predecessors.

The Phils got to him for 10 hits and got three more men on base on walks. But they still managed to get only two runners as far as third, and one of them made it on a balk.

The victory was Williams' 10th in 12 decisions and the shutout brought his earned-run average down to 2.38, best among National League starters.

The Dodgers settled the issue in the third, when they scored eight runs on eight hits, including a two-run homer by Williams and doubles by Jim Gilliam, Duke Snider, Maury Wills and Joe Pignatano.

Dodger first baseman Norm Larker went two-for-five and regained the league batting lead from Willie Mays of San Francisco. Larker is hitting .344, Mays .343.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty - Niners expect to be bolstered this year by the return of Jim Pace, former Michigan halfback who sat out the 1959 National Football League season with a knee injury.

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Doug Sanders of Cedartown, Ga., has hit only two balls out of bounds since joining the Professional Gulfer's Association tour in 1958.

Yank Olympic Team To Get Fine Coaching

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—"If they want purple buttermilk," Bub Winter said today, "we'll get them purple buttermilk."

Winter is one of the coaches of the United States Olympic track and field team, assembling here for a week of practice to be capped by a meet Saturday.

America's "finest 56" plus alternates, four Canadian guest athletes, plus coaches and trainers began today to work out kinks and sluggishness which may have developed in the layoff since the Olympic trials early this month.

"This is a finishing process," said Ralph Higgins of Oklahoma State College, an assistant coach like Winter of San Jose State. Larry Snyder of Ohio State, is the head coach. The fourth member is George Eastmont of Manhattan.

Higgins and Winer agreed the nation's best track and field athletes will need little tutoring. Many may be tense with excitement and anticipation. To help relax them and bring them to the peak of condition, they will get the full attention and cooperation of coaches, even to Winter's "purple buttermilk."

Arriving singly or in small groups from many sections of the country, about 20 were on hand Sunday night. And the rest were expected before nightfall today. Only those with valid reasons such as job or family responsibilities were to be excused.

The trip to the Rome Olympics is assured for most of the stars but the three 10,000-meter men still must atain the Olympic qualifying standard before earning a ticket on the Aug. 18 flight to Europe. None of the team's trio in the 10,000 has equalled the time of 29 minutes, 40 seconds necessary for a spot in the starting lineup at Rome.

After the Saturday meet here, the entire team will go to Los Angeles to continue training with competition scheduled again on the following two weekends. If the distance men fail to attain the qualifying mark here Saturday, they may skip the second meet to rest for a final try in the third.

Giants May Be Spoilers To Loop Leaders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Those San Francisco Giants may become the "spoilers" of the National League and win their way back into contention at the same time.

They knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of first place Sunday with a 6-3 victory and now await Monday night's invasion by the Milwaukee Braves.

"We like to take a hold of the leaders and set them back a bit," chortled Manager Tom Sheehan after watching his club take two stright from the Pirates who had led the league since May 30.

The Pirates have a chance to regain the lead tonight when they meet the Cardinals at St. Louis while the Braves are idle.

"It's still a long race to go," commented Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "And don't forget we've been playing on the road with only three games at home this month."

The Giants remained in fifth place but moved within 6½ games of the leaders with triumphs in five of their last seven games including the pair over Pittsburgh.

Both times the power came from Willie Mays and Bob Schmidt who each belted homers in both games. Mays hit a home run in each of the three games against the Pirates.

Sunday, he started things off in the first inning with a two-run blast off loser Tom Cheney. Schmidt, who hit his first home run in Candlestick Park on Saturday, came through with another, good for three runs in the sixth.

Those were all the runs the Giants needed although the Pirates rallied for three in a wild ninth against four San Francisco hurlers.

Rams Battle Cowboys For Jimmie Harris

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald says the National Football League is courting trouble in trying to hold Jimmie Harris, the former Los Angeles Rams back, to an NFL contract.

The Dallas Cowboys, who traded a future draft choice to Los Angeles for Harris, filed suit against the Dallas Texans of the American Football League. A hearing on a temporary restraining order will be held Wednesday.

Harris played with the Rams in 1958 but was out of pro football last year. This spring he signed with the Texans.

The Cowboys claim that under an NFL contract an option is given to sign a player the following season and that if the player lays out the option year he still is the property of the club.

The Times Herald, however, quoted Creighton Miller of Cleveland, legal counsel for the National Football Players Assn., as saying "the retirement clause is a watered down attempt to bind a player forever to one club. Whether an athlete plays out his option or sits it out, he's a free agent after one year. The option can't be deferred, regardless of the language of the contract."

Miller said he was amazed that the NFL would go into court and challenge this point "when it's very possible that they will be met with a counter-suit that could challenge the fundamental structure of their contract. The court may very well rule that the entire draft and reserve clause system is in violation of anti-trust laws."

WHY SHE TOURS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Anna Maria Alberghetti is spending the summer touring tent shows. Why?

"There are several reasons," she says. "First there's a live audience. You don't have to fight forks and knives as in night clubs."

What's more, she says, it'll be great experience "because in three months I'll be able to do four different shows — 'Kismet,' 'Fanny,' 'Rosemarie,' and 'Firefly'."

130 Balmain Costumes Worn By Thai Queen

By FLORENCE DE SANTIS

Queen Sirikit of Thailand, now in the United States as part of a four-months world tour, is as beautiful as a fairy-tale princess and her clothes combine the splendors of Paris and the Orient.

Pierre Balmain was the lucky couturier who got the assignment to design 130 costumes for the 27-year-old Queen. He met the Queen on one of his business trips to Thailand, where his perfumes are best sellers.

Noted for clothes that the French call "jolie Madame," Balmain has outdone himself in his clothes for Queen Sirikit, who is certainly on of the world's most "jolie."

The Buddhist religion prescribes the color the Queen should wear each day of the week-red on Sundays, yellow on Monday, pink on Tuesday, green on Wednesday, orange on Thursday, blue on Friday and mauve on Saturday. Balmain had a wonderful time making clothes in all these colors from the shimmering Thai silks.

A theatre costume for Sirikit's New York visit began with a slim dress in orange satin, the bodice richly embroidered in gold and orange. A square jacket in green Thai silk topped the dress, the jacket lining embroidered to match the dress bodice.

Another theatre dress is a white crepe sheath embroidered in gold and orange, which is topped by a full-length coat in orange Thai silk.

At the ball given for the Thai King and Queen by New York's Governor Rockefeller, Sirikit wore a ball gown whose lines were suggested by the traditional draped costume of Thailand.

The strapless bodice was draped and wrapped around the figure, the waistline starting high like an Empire dress. The bodice was in red and gold brocade, and the floor-length skirt, gracefully side-draped, of chartreuse Thai silk.

Fabulous jewels from the royal collection are accompanying the wardrobe. Balmain stayed for three weeks at the palace, and the King gave him the pick of the collection. Balmain matched some jewels to dresses already designed, and for particularly beautiful pieces he designed special costumes.

Final touch were the fans. Balmain sent cuttings of French silk to Thailand to be hand-painted with typical designs. On return to Paris, the silk was pleated and set on mother of pearl or gemmed handles.

Love Lifts National Economy

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Try to pin down the average cost of getting married and you'll find there is no such thing — unless, of course, you go along with the recently married young man who said "It takes all you've got."

Ask any of the people whose business is weddings and all that goes with them and you'll get the same answer: "Well, it all depends . . ."

It depends, of course, on what "getting married" means to each couple.

It is to be a simple ceremony with the bride in her going-away outfit and just best friends to stand up for the pair — or a church wedding with the bride gowned in the dress of a lifetime, a procession of attendants and all the trimmings?

Will family and intimates toast the newlyweds in punch, nibble dainty sandiwches and wedding cake — or will the full complement of guests enjoy lavish food and drink and dance to the music of a society orchestra?

Will the honeymooners take off for a week in the mountains — or six weeks in Europe?

Will their first home be a small apartment furnished with combined bachelor quarter leftovers, gifts and ingenuity — or a complete-to-the-last-ashtray house in the suburbs?

Any one of th eunlimited number of possible variations can be "the" answer at a cost of a few hundred to several thousands of dollars.

Whatever the cost to the individuals involved, marriages are big business — an estimated $23 billion in 1959 spent for goods and services that would not otherwise have been bought.

Since "big business," of course, requires statistics, averages. and projections, Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, a Madison Avenue advertising firm, set its marketing experts to work on the subject recently. They came up with some figures on "The Bridal Market" that make interesting reading — whether or not they are typical of brides in general.

Each marriage — there were 1,445,000 in 1958 and there are expected to be 2,250,000 annually by 1965 — generates a demand for about $15,000 worth of goods and services—for apartments, houses, furniture, appliances, clothing, jewelry, automobiles and myriad other items.

Of that $15,000 average. $11,-000 goes into the cost of the dwelling unit itself while $1,000 is spent on the engagement and wedding and the balance represents the average estimated cost of setting up the household, with outlays for furniture, appliances and the like.

Putting first things first, the survey found some 75 per cent of engaged girls sported the traditional ring which cost on the average over $200.

Practically all brides had acquired a trousseau for their wedding but, perhaps surprisingly, the great majority spent less than $200. And, cheering to prospective husbands, only 9 per cent of the brides queried looked forward to spending more for clothing after marriage than they did as single girls. The remaining 91 per cent was divided evenly between those who expected to go along about the same as they had been, and those who figured on spending less.

The average bride, it seems, receives $1,003 in wedding gifts, and most of these gifts are not exactly surprises since — by means of hints and bridal gift registries — the brides generally manage to let gift - givers know exactly what they'd like. In order of importance, the average bride feels that bedroom furniture. liñens, living room furniture, refrigerator, automobile, washing machine, dinette set, television radio and rugs are most necessary for newlyweds.

The traditional honeymoon, according to the survey, represents a substantial $235 million market annually, with 66 per cent of U. S. Honeymoon couples spending an average of $237 for a week.

BBDO, culling its information from the Census Bureau and other government sources, bank economists and numerous publications, stuck closely to the bridal market, leaving for other studies the baby market and the teenage market, the expenses of which nevertheless, are to be reckoned with in any consideration of the cost of getting married.

Tips On Household Decorating

By BETTY PEPIS

Q. — We are moving to Florida and plan to reupholster our French Provincial furniture after we move. Rug is light cocoa and draperies gold. Lamps are white with gold shades. What colors would you suggest for walls, two chairs and a loveseat?

A. — You will find that decorating for Florida's tropic climate will impose certain rules, basically those for summer decorating anywhere: colors should be pale and cool with lots of white, and fabrics should be resistant to mildew and the other hazards of a hot, damp climate. I would advise, therefore, a pale muted cocoa for the walls with white ceilings and woodwork. The loveseat could be a smooth - finish fabric in deep blue - green. One chair in a pale cocoa and the other in white, turquoise or pale gold. All fabrics as a safeguard against soil, could be treated with Scotchguard silicone process. Accessories should repeat the white of lamps with throw pillows in blue and gold silks.

Q. — Please help bring my living room "together." Walls and woodwork are beige and carpet is grey. There is a red and grey brick fireplace. I have a green sofa, gold damask chair and red leather chair. Curtains and lamps are white and furniture is mahogany. The room does not look co - ordinated and I cannot tell what is wrong.

A. — There is nothing really wrong; I think that by unifying your background the room will seem more of a piece. Paint the walls and woodwork a pale silver grey to blend more easily with the carpet. Painting the fireplace to match the walls will make a big difference in the room's appeal. Use brass and white accessories to sharpen the scheme without adding additional color. Sofa pillows in gold and red will be enough with the colorful chairs and sofa.

Q. — My kitchen has knotty pine cabinets stainless steel sink and a yellow breakfast set. Please suggest a color for walls and floor.

A. — A brick - patterened linoleum floor would work well with the knotty pine cabinets. The walls could be off - white to set off the wood tone and provide a neutral background for the hot colors.

Q. — Will I have too much color in my bathroom if I use turquoise for curtain, rug and towels? The walls and floor are grey tile, fixtures and walls above tile are yellow.

A. — Not at all. Grey, like black and white is not technically a color at all. With these and other neutrals you should use two real colors, turquoise and yellow will be very pretty here. You might even add white accessories such as soap dish and jars.

Q. — Our new family room opens directly onto the cocoa and pink kitchen. The family room has a beige tile floor and is birch paneled. I want to relate the two rooms but don't know where to use color. Can you help me?

A. — Rather than exactly repeating your kitchen scheme, have the family room in beige, white and yellow with pink and cocoa used to accent. The sofa might be beige and heaped with pillows in shades of pink and yellow. Chairs in yellow or white Naugahyde and curtains or shades of a pink and white striped cotton. Accessories such as ashtrays and boxes in pink and white. On the floor you might use an area rug in pink.

Q. — My living room has beige walls and draperies. I have a French Provincial chair and ottoman in turquoise. What color would you suggest for rug and two fireside chiars?

A. — A soft turquoise carpet would be bright and very pretty. Fireside chairs might be a beige and white printed linen. Accessories could repeat the turquoise in Bristol glass lamps or turquoise ceramic lamps with white shades. White ashtrays and small accessories will sharpen the colors and add a cool, crisp look.

Q. — My walls and ceiling have just been painted oyster white. I have a new wall - to - wall carpet in black - and - white salt - and - pepper tweed. There is a two - piece sectional sofa in shrimp, another sofa in black and a round walnut coffee table. I need draperies and accessories. Would you suggest colors for these and advise whether I should use solid or print draperies?

A. — Either a print or a solid would be good here. Your colors are dramatic enough so that you could rely on interesting texture in an oyster solid drapery, or since you have no pattern in the room now, you could use a print. The only thing you should avoid is a deep color which will contrast too strongly with the walls. I would like a print of red - orange on a natural background. The bright color will not be overwhelming on a pale background and would be a wonder foil for the lighter shrimp color. Pick up this red - orange in sofa pillows and a few pieces of lacquer ware. Emerald green would be a wonderful accent color for this and could be used for ashtrays, boxes, ceramic lamps and even a throw pillor or two.

Iranian Royal Chefs Blend Tasty Recipes

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — East and West blend in the culinary preferences of Iran's royal family.

Seyed Mahmound Nateq - Abbassi, head chef for H. I. M. Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and his court in Tehran, said that the Shah likes both Western and Persian food. And in an interview he reeled off a list that included broiled meats, broiled turkey, shish kebab, and ab - gousht, which is a lamb and vegetable meal cooked in one pot but served in two courses.

Ab - gousht, the chef said, is made like soup with shoulder of lamb, potatoes, tomatoes, Persian limes and white kidney beans or garbanzos. The soup is served first with Persian bread — a flat, round whole wheat loaf. The meat and vegetables are ground together and follow with more bread.

Nateq - Abbassi has spent 18 years in the court kitchen, the past seven as head chef. He was in New York to help Lucien Toucas, executive chef of a leading hotel (Astor), plan a Persian banquet to benefit the International Association for Iranian Art.

Although Nateq - Abbassi is private chef to the Shah, he is on loan to the Iranian ambassador in Washington. The ambassador's wife, Princess Shannaz, is the Shah's daughter.

At the palace, menu - planning is largely a matter of anticipating the Shah's wishes. Speaking through an interpreter, Nateq-Abbassi explained that a waiter usually reports whether the Shah appears to like each dish, and how much he eats.

Persian cookery is slower paced than Western style, he said. For instance, a recipe using rice calls for soaking the rice overnight in water. Little boiled food is served, and frying is more popular than in America, Nateq - Abbassi said. Stews often contain fried vegetables. And eggplant is such a favorite that it's used in at least 10 recipes, including stews, omelets and stuffed.

The hotel banquet here was a streamlined version of the real thing. It included only caviar and vodka, cucumber soup, Imperial pilaff of lamb Kerman, Persian eggplant with mast yoghurt, cheeses, Persian salad, mint sherbert with brandied dates, almond cakes and tea.

Nateq - Abbassi said a typical Persian banquet at the palace, served buffet style, includes caviar and many hors d'oeuvres, four salads, four stews, four kinds of rice, a whole roast lamb and leg of lamb, turkey and chicken. The royal party is served in a small separate room while all other guests help themselves, the chef added.

Learning to prepare these meals, and also simpler repasts, has been almost a lifetime job for the voluble 32 - year - old Iranian. He was only 11 when he began to learn cooking from his father, also a court chef. Today, he has 30 assistants, who are also full - time regular chefs in Iranian hotels and palaces owned and used by the royal family.

IRANIAN RECIPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here is a recipe from the Iranian court never before made public. It is for maste khiar, or cucumbers with yoghurt. Peel and cube 4 cucumbers. Mix with ¼ cup of chopped fresh mint, two 8 - ounce containers of plain yoghurt, and salt and pepper to taste. Mix and chill two hours, the time experts say is required to reach peak flavor. Drain excess water, add one 8 - ounce container of yoghurt, stir and chill briefly before serving in lettuce cups with thinly - sliced cucumber as garnish.

Time Nearing To File Farm Tax Requests

Farmers who wish to claim a refund on federal tax on gasoline used in farm operations during the fiscal year ending June 30, should do so as soon as possible.

This is the advice of W. D. Curtis, economics specialist with Louisiana State University Extension Service.

He said claims must be filed with the Internal Revenue Service on Form 2240. Those who filed claim for a refund last year will receive this form through the mail.

Others wishing to make a claim should contact the district Internal Revenue Service office or the parish Agricultural Extension Service office to obtain the forms.

DEADLINE

The deadline for filing a gasoline refund claim for gas used during the past fiscal year is Sept. 30, said Curtis.

Claims should be mailed to the district office of the Internal Revenue Service in New Orleans.

A refund of three cents a gallon may be claimed on all gasoline used in farming operations, not on the highways, between July 1, 1959, and September 30, 1959, and of four cents a gallon on all such gasoline used between October 1, 1959, and June 30, 1960.

Here's Comparison Of Party Platforms

CHICAGO (AP) — Here's a thumbnail sketch on how Republican and Democratic platforms stack up on planks already approved by the GOP Platform Committee:

National Defense—Republicans promise to continue and improve present military ad preparedness programs which they declare have kept the nation sufficiently powerful to meet Communist thrusts and its military might second to none. There is no price ceiling on America's security, they say.

Democrats, on the other hand, charge the Eisenhower administration has allowed the nation's pre-eminence to become overshadowed in such vital defense and military fields as missiles and conquest of space, for reasons of economy. They speak of restoration of U. S. superiority in all defense fields.

Economic Growth — Republicans pledge further growth which would be achieved by giving full reign to free enterprise, encouraged by broadly based tax reforms to foster job-making investments.

Democrats would achieve such growth by setting up easier money policies and by increasing government spending in a number of economic and welfare fields. Republicans reject increased federal spending, contending it would foster artificial growth.

Agriculture—Republicans would seek to increase farm income by establishing a greatly expanded soil bank program for reducing price-depressing farm surpluses and by employing somewhat higher price supports than those favored by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Democrats would employ much higher supports than the Republicans, rigid production controls, a soil bank, payments to farmers and other devices. They also would use a broad food stamp plan to move food surpluses to the needy at home.

Government finance — Republicans would continue present emphasis on efforts to keep federal spending within limits of revenue. They also would use any revenue surpluses to reduce the national debt and strengthen the ability of the Federal Reserve system to control money and credit.

Democrats would increase taxes if such were found necessary to meet demands of programs designed to speed economic growth and of welfare programs. They promised also to close tax loopholes and end what they called gross waste in government spending.

Government administration—Republicans pledge to continue efforts to streamline government operations. They would create two new top positions to aid the president in the fields of national security and government planning in domestic affairs.

Democrats pledged to reform processes of government in all branches — executive, legislative and judicial, and to clean out what they called corruption and conflicts of interests of officals.

Natural Resources Republicans would continue what they called fast development of power, flood control, irrigation and other projects under the Eisenhower administration.

Democrats pledged development of all such resources for the common good, claiming Republicans had allowed many resources to be developed in the interests of the few.

Science and technology—Republicans promised to keep the nation in what they said was the world leadership in every field of science and technology, including earthbound and spatial.

Democrats contended the Eisenhower administration has been blind in many fields of science and technology in exploration of space and in research into peaceful uses of atomic energy. They promised to remedy this.

Labor—Republicans said they have fostered, promoted and improved the welfare of laboring men and promised to continue efforts in that direction. They promised also to raise the federal minimum wage rate an unspecified amount and expand its coverage.

Democrats also promised to strengthen collective bargaining rights and to repeal what they called anti-labor excesses written into labor laws. They promised to raise the minimum wage from present $1 an hour to $1.25 and extend its coverage.

SICK SCOUTS

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 100 of the 5,000 city Boy Scouts camped on Randall's Island in the East River have been stricken with a similar malady because they did not heed the Scout's Handbook.

Doctors said they were suffering from overdoses of candy bars, ice cream and pop, despite the Handbook's physical fitness chapter which says good Scouts "go easy on candy and sweets."

TOUGH CAMPAIGNERS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Sen. Estes Kefauver and his senatorial opponent, Judge Andrew Taylor, proved they have the stomachs for political campaigning.

Four hospitals reported a wave of stomach upsets Sunday among persons who attended a Democratic barbecue rally at which the political opponents were present. Neither was among the casualties.

REELECT MA PERKINS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Virginia Payne—"Ma Perkins" of the radio soap opera—was reelected national president of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) Sunday by the organization's annual convention.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Ina Balin, the beautiful actress on Life's cover this week, was at the unemployment office at Broadway and 54th St. the day the magazine hit the stands—collecting her first unemployment check. (She was down to her last $179.) But her studio is adjusting her contract, and she expects to get a two-pictures-a-year deal at approximately $1,500 a week . . . The big debate on "Will Grace Kelly ever return to Hollywood?" is alive again, despite her many denials. Most of her close chums say, "She meant it when she said she was giving up her career forever. She's a serious Princess, wife and mother — and that's all she wants to be." But a minority group insists, "Grace is getting a little restless around the palace, and Rainier would be smart to let her have a fling at films again, even if she gave the money to charity."

Dave Garroway is slated for night television in 1961 . . . You've probably never heard of Brenda Lee. But she's just achieved the almost impossible for a female vocalist: her recording of "I'm Sorry" is No. 1 on both the Billboard and Cashbox listings.

Gower Champion has every right to be proud of the job he did on "Bye, Bye Birdie." Although most shows are feeling the Summer doldrums, "Birdie" is playing to packed houses, and the cast is performing with such verve that the audiences cheer through six and eight curtain calls as if they were an opening night claque . . . Lawrence Welk's daughter, Donna Lee, will become the bride of Jim Mack, a medical student, in September.

John Hunt, editor of The Insider's Newsletter, is slated to tell how the "insiders" get their "inside on the Al Collins WINS show of July 25th . . . After making one of those nationwide "reaction" surveys, Warner Brothers decided to pep up the box office potential of the film "Rachel Cade" by retitling it "The Sins of Rachel Cade."

Broadway guessing game: A famous movie director is flirting with trouble. He's cast his newest girl friend in his two most recent pictures, and his wife is beginning to wonder . . .

A top Hollywood star — one of the biggest ingenue types on the fan magazine covers — is seriously worrying about the wrinkles she's started to collect in her face. Her studio has orders to retouch all photographs that show the slightest sign of "maturity." And it seems ridiculous, because she's so cute . . . One of Hollywood's top TV packaging firms is in a state of panic. They're losing three shows this Fall because of sponsor cancellations.

The crew scouring New York for locations for "Breakfast at Tiffany's" is looking for a "swank" East Side Chinese restaurant; so far, allegedly, all the joints they've cased have looked alike. Actually, there's no really all-out glamorous Chinese restaurant in town; but the prettiest is Sun-Luck East, if they'd like some time - saving advice . . . Did Loretta Young check into a Dallas hospital "incognito" for a short stay? That's the buzz down Texas way.

Bert Parks is such an audience hit in "The Music Man" that the theatrical experts expect him to forsake TV for Broadway. He's the surprise of the season in the role everyone thought belonged to Robert Preston exclusively . . . Former boxer Coley Wallace, who played the lead in the cinema biography of Joe Louis's life, narrowly missed death when fire broke out in his Harlem apartment building, trapping him on the top floor. The fire lads rescued him.

New York's gustatory landmark, the Colony, will have a few new decorative features when it reopens July 25. Tip to the ladies: wear something that goes with blue . . . Sophia Loren goes in for "realism" in one scene in "It Started In Naples." Awakened by Clark Gable, Sophia is shown without makeup and with rag curlers in her hair. (How does she look? Marvelous, of course.) . . . Query to the sages at ASCAP: is there not some way for you to protect the rights and reputations of dead lyrists? Like, fellows, I refer to the current Buddy Greco version of Lorenz Hart's "The Lady Is A Tramp." Granted it was the most incomprehensive song he ever wrote, we all make mistakes, and is that any excuse for letting someone mutilate it wickedly?

Keefe Brasselle's biography, "Reach For The Highest Rung," will be ghosted by Alyce Canfield. A magazine wants to serialize it before March, 1961 publication date. The drama: Keefe made a million dollars before he was 25, then — zoom! — went broke.

Red Refusal Breaks Basic Russian Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet refusal to permit U.S. officials to see spy pilot Francis Gary Powers and two other imprisoned Amrican fliers violates a basic U.S.-Soviet agreement.

One of the conditions on which U.S. recognition of the Soviet Union was based in 1933 was that U.S. diplomats would have unquestioned rights to visit any Americans imprisoned by the Soviet Union.

Whether this 27-year-old agreement has been raised by the United States in its repeated attemps to visit Powers, Lt. John R. McKone and Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead is not clear. The only U.S. note to the U.S.S.R. on the subject that has been made public did not mention it.

Yet the Soviet obligation to permit the visits is unmistakably set forth in the 1933 agreement. The pertinent section is disclosed in an exchange of letters between President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Soviet Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinov on Nov. 16, 1933, the day diplomatic relations between the two countries were established, agreed to grant American legal rights "not less favorable than those enjoyed . . . by nationals of the nation most favored in this respect." Such a nation, Litvinov added, was Germany, and he quoted from the Soviet-German pact.

"Requests made by consular representatives to visit nationals of their country under arrest, or to have them visited by their representatives, shall be granted without delay."

Powers has now been in prison since his U2 spy plane was shot down May 1 near Sverdlovsk. McKone and Olmstead have been held since their RB47 reconnaissance plane was downed by a Soviet fighter plane near the Kola Peninsula July 1.

Moscow announced that Powers will be tried as a spy Aug. 17. No date has been set for a trial of the others.

The State Department has requested permission to visit the fliers on numerous occasions. Moscow has not even bothered to answer Washington's notes.

LATE MARKETS

WALL STREET CHATTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — This week's Republican convention can be expected to paint a rosier picture of the nation's economic health and it would be surprising if the market does not show a favorable response, according to B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu & Stetson, Inc.

It seems curious, he says, that with the election campaign now beginning in earnest, the administration is showing so little concern over the steady deterioration in business sentiment that has taken place during the past few weeks.

An excellent pretext for stimulating measures now exists and these include lowering interest rates and margin requirements, in the opinion of this financial analyst.

Bache & Co. is surprised to see Great Western Financial back down so sharply in view of its continued earnings gain. With chances for any adverse legislation slim, Bache says, GWF's excellent past record would seem to deserve a higher valuation.

The next twelve months should see a leveling off, or at worst a slight decline in bank earnings, according to the Value Line Investment survey. However, with current dividend payments at historically low levels, a general liberalization of dividend rates appears in prospect.

Hornblower & Weeks notes that oil company executives have stated that improved earnings during the remainder of the year should offset the rather disappointing results earlier so that full 1960 income should be about equal to 1959 or better in some cases. The latter will probably hold true for Standard Oil of Indiana, Hornblower believes.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market failed to hold a slight rise and went into another decline early this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Losses of fractions to about a point outnumbered an array of small gainers.

The market was a bit ahead on balance as the session started but there was no strong leadership and it wasn't long before the list showed more minus than plus signs.

A continuation of spotty earnings reports for the second quarter, the drift of steel production in typical summer doldrums, a reported slow-up in copper demand, and the undertain international situation were factors.

Steels, autos, rails, tobaccos, and mail order-retails were among losers. Chemicals, aircrafts, and electronics were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.41 to 606.46.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 to 213.70 with the industrials off .70, the rails up .20 and the utilities down .10.

Corporate bonds were irregular.

U.S. government bonds were about unchanged.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Hot And Cold Reports For 1960 Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Earnings reports of American corporations are blowing hot and cold on the stock market these days and also on the confidence of businessmen and consumers.

Record profits for the first half of 1960 jostle declines. Industries are sharply divided as to the upside and the downside. And within industries some giants show losses while their nearest competitors report gains over the first half of their previous fiscal year.

A sizable number of companies report record sales but lower net income after taxes, largely because of rising costs of doing business.

But in the first rush of half-year earnings three out of five companies are reporting a better profit year so far than last.

Cash dividends for the first six months of 1960 were 6½ per cent higher than a year ago, the Department of Commerce reports.

Most of the largest companies are yet to report, and many are in industries that have been hardest hit by the decline in output, sales and earnings in recent months.

For example, eight steel companies have reported so far, seven showing a decline in profits from 1959's first half. The drop for the group as a whole is 37 per cent, a poor augury for next week when the biggest steel companies report.

For another example, five out of seven railroads so far reporting show declines for a group drop of 26 per cent. And in the first five months of the year the Assn. of American Railroads estimated earnings of all roads with operating revenues of at least three million dollars a year trailing last year by 17 per cent. When the rest of the roads report for the entire six months the picture is unlikely to be brighter.

The 11 chemical companies reporting to date show three down and eight up, but giant Du Pont's 6 per cent drop brought the whole group down for a 4 per cent decline.

Lumumba Puts In Bid For Trained Help

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo holds more talks with U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today. Lumumba is seeking trained personnel to help get his chaos-ridden country back on its feet.

The 35-year-old leader of the infant central African nation arrived in New York Sunday and after an initial 2½-hour meeting with Hammarskjold said he was "very optimistic" about the situation.

Hammarskjold invited Lumumba to lunch with the members of the U. N. Security Council, which last Friday called on Belgium to speed up withdrawal of her troops from the Congo.

Lumumba later was to talk with delegates of the 29-nation Asian-African group and hold a news conference. He winds up his talks with Hammarskjold Tuesday.

Lumumba told newsmen he and Hammarskjold in their first meeting had discussed the general situation in the Congo and the session had been "very fruitful."

"I express my satisfaction for the understanding which has prevailed during our conversation," the premier said in French.

An aide said Lumumba particularly wants the U. N. to send engineers and doctors to the Congo.

When he arrived in New York, peace in the Congo depends on "the immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops." He thanked the Security Council for its last resolution and offered friendship to President Eisenhower.

EVIDENCE STOLEN

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Someone stole the stolen evidence.

The Catholic Cathedral Parish House reported that $375 had been taken from its safe and Sheriff L. O. Davis said he recovered the money from a car driven by Charles Young.

The sheriff put the money in his safe but later when he went to get it found someone had stolen it. Young was still held on a larceny charge, however.

New Jersey Artist Gives Ceramic Tips

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — Miss Yien-Koo Wang, 24, is a Chinese artist who teaches Western bankers, engineers, housewives and lawyers how to get their hands dirty and like it.

As director of the city museum's ceramics department, Miss Wang conducts art classes for 50 to 60 adults, some of whom didn't know a piece of clay from a hunk of dough when they began puttering with pottery.

The tiny artist once admitted she felt embarrassed when an elderly dignified banker, a student in one of her classes, addressed her as "professor."

"I felt more like a daughter than a professor," she said.

Her pottery is on exhibit at the Mi Chou Gallery in New York, which one gaver her a "one-man" show. She also has exhibited at the Brooklyn Museum, and two years ago was invited to display her art at the New York State Fair exhibit.

"I am married to my pottery," she said.

Her father, Chi Chuan Wang, a traditional painter and well-known art collector, is her chief critic.

"In school I was exposed to Western art. Then father gave me a rich art background, too. He taught me how to love the arts in a special way," she explained.

Critics have called her pottery "a syntheesis of the East and West." "I don't copy traditional Chinese shapes," she said, "but the feeling of the East is in my work. I am a 20th Century woman, but Chinese, and from the East."

After graduating from Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y. in 1958, Miss Wang worked at the Brooklyn Museum for more than a year.

She also works as a guide at the the United Nations, "because I am interested in a lot of things, particularly international communication through art."

Her hobbies include painting and playing the pipa, an early four-stringed Chinese instrument dating to the Tang dynasty.

Her philosophy: "To be as creative as God allows me and see beauty of nature and God and gain universal understanding of mankind through art.

"To enrich your life you should be aware of all the beauty around you. After all, everybody eats and works. We must never lose sight of the beauty of God's work through our daily struggle."

Castro Signs Sugar Pact With Reds

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba swung more tightly into the Communist orbit Sunday after signing a five-year agreement to supply Red China with half a million tons of sugar a year.

The deal, completed as Prime Minister Fidel Castro's followers prepared for their big revolutionary holiday Tuesday, also opens the door to Red Chinese technicians and a flood of propaganda material.

The agreement was signed late Saturday night by Maj. Ernesto Guevara, an open admirer of Red China who is president of the Cuban National Bank, and Deputy Minister of Commerce Lu Hsu-chang of Red China.

Castro, mysteriously absent from public view since a TV speech Monday, was not present for the ceremony.

The deal boosts Cuba's sugar delivery obligations to the Communist bloc to nearly two million tons a year. The terms are somewhat similar to those in the agreement under which the Soviet Union will buy a million tons of Cuban sugar a year.

The deals are designed to offset the losses from the U.S. market. But the United States paid Cuba two cents or more a pound premium over world market prices. The Reds will not.

The Soviet Union pays the world price—and only partly in cash. Red China presumably also will pay the world price. The agreement says world prices will determine the value of goods exchange.

Bag-Backed Suits, Skirts Shown In Paris

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—A slim semi-fitted line, with skirts just below the knee, was shown by Jacques Griffe this morning in the curtain-raiser for the Paris fall and winter fashion openings.

New notes were bag-backed suit jackets and bag skirts, bloused out above the knee and seamed in again at a slightly longer hemline.

Waistlines were more or less left where the designer found them. Modestly high day necklines went with the warm, sensible look for winter fashions.

A brown and red coat began the parade. These turned out to be Griffe's favored colors. Black and oyster white came next in popularity, followed by black-purple, olive and honey beige.

Some suits were buttoned from the neck to hem, and often the buttons ran down one side.

The new bag skirts have a harem look — with a difference. Even some coats are in the Cinderella pumpkin shape.

Warm tweeds, thick furry woolens, lace printed velvets, heavy silk crepes and moires, and even a fuzzy wool lace made up the range of winter materials. Coats had shawl collars or stand-up rounded cuff collars, often in fur. Fur borders and hems trimmed many suits and coats.

There were high covered cloches and feather duster hats to go with everything, and gold veil bird cages for evening.

The black crepe dress, beloved by most women, showed up in dozens of versions, all of them deceptively simple.

What Griffe calls his lonzenge, or elongated diamond, bustline gets that shape from a shoulder to shoulder drape and downpointed seams. Formal "slipcovers"—loose chiffon sheaths slit up one side—went over fitted silk sheaths for cocktail and dinner time.

Formal wear was mostly ankle-length, and ball gowns have been cut down to size. They range from moderate gathered fullness to slim straight sheaths. Most decolletage is of the wide, shallow variety that just shows the shoulder blades. Some apron skirts are gathered onto little yokes curving down from the waistline.

The bag skirt showed up for evening, too, and even the bride, who traditionally ends the showing, wore it, with a little embroidered cone to hold her veil in place.

Filigree - fine embroidery was trimming for the dressy numbers. Typical was a gold and rhinestone border tracery on a white satin brocade dinner suit. Romantic as a valentine, a black velvet ankle-length formal sported lace frills and a big white rose at cuff and hemline.

POLICE ARREST "NAZIS"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Self-styled American Nazi Party Leader George Lincoln Rockwell and 17 of his swastika-wearing "storm troopers" were charge with disorderly conduct Sunday after a fight broke out at a meeting they wer holding near the U.S. District Court.

U.S. park police said Rockwell and his troopers were arrested after they had "pushed people" and "struck a few blows" to silence hecklers.

Bears In Tree Cause Big Stir In Arkansas

NEWPORT, Ark. (UPI) —Three bears up a tree almost turned the household of Mrs. John Keel upside down recently.

They made a coward of her once fearless Dalmatian and brought a crowd of 75-100 persons stomping all over her lawn. The crowds even kept Keel's tractors from crossing the road.

Efforts to chase the bears away proved futile. They even failed to acknowledge two jars of honey placed on the ground. The bears left when they were ready.
